UNO Mandates On Pacific Isles Wanted by U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(UP)—The United States will ask the United Nations Organization next month for sole trusteeship over a vast chain of Pacific island bases, including all the former Japanese-held isles, to establish American air-sea power as the main guardian of peace in the Pacific, Sen. Warren Magnuson, Democrat, Washington, said Thursday.

Magnuson told reporters at an impromptu press conference that "very reliable military sources" had informed him that the American trusteeship bid will be made when the UNO General Assembly convenes in New York in September.

His statement drew a prompt but half-hearted denial from the State Department. Spokesmen there said cautiously that they knew of no present plans for such action. But they acknowledged that the United States wants, and intends ultimately to ask for, UNO trusteeship over the Pacific island bases wrested from Japan by American arms.

BASES WANTED

The bases which Magnuson said the United States wants stretch over an arc of more than 4,000 miles, covering the direct air and sea lanes from Hawaii to Australia and the Orient.

They include the Caroline and Marshall Island groups, both Japanese mandates; the Gilberts, a British mandate; the Marianas Islands; Manus Island in the Admiralties, where the United States has built a $200,000,000 base with Australia's permission, and all other small Japanese islands outside the empire proper.

Magnuson, a member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, said this Government's decision to ask for the bases is final, and that he "didn't see how there could be any dissent" from the other UNO members.

U. S. RESPONSIBILITY

"Peace in the Pacific is going to be our responsibility," he said.

He added that the UNO or the Big Three, "particularly Russia and the United States," soon will have to discuss the question of air rights in the Kurile Islands, which the Soviet Union has occupied since Japan's fall.

Magnuson's statement indicated that the United States would seek guardianship of the Pacific on broad strategic grounds. If so, the request would have to be passed upon by the UNO Security Council and there was a possibility that one or the other of the major Council members might invoke its veto powers to block the transfer.

Britain has intimated that she might be willing to surrender her Gilbert Islands mandate to the United States, but the big question mark is Russia's attitude. The Soviets have frankly opposed American "intervention" in China and have been cool toward any expansion of U. S. military power in the Orient.

Australia does not hold veto power in the Council. It has been opposed to granting sole trusteeship over Pacific islands to the United States on the grounds that her own security is involved and hence she should have a voice in any such deals.

Washington observers, however, believed that the United States is in a very strong position to press her claim. American troops hold most, if not all, the areas in question and if the UNO refused to accept jurisdiction, the United States could merely withdraw its request and hold on to the bases.

Magnuson appeared confident that there would be no important opposition to the American bid, pointing out that this country inevitably will have to assume the main responsibility for preserving peace in the Pacific.

MAGNUSON'S VIEW

"There is no reason in the world that the islands shouldn't be given to us on that (sole trusteeship) basis," he said.

He pointed out that many of the smaller Japanese islands, while not major bases, have air strips which would be essential to overall air operations in the Western Pacific.

In addition, he said possession of these islands on a trusteeship basis would be of great aid to American commercial airlines which before the war had to fly roundabout routes covering only American-held areas.

Under UNO rules, the American proposal would go to the UNO General Assembly, which must approve by a two-thirds vote the terms of trusteeship agreements and their alteration or amendment.

After that, the Security Council would be required to render a

Memphis Blast Kills 3 Workmen

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 29—(AP)—Three workers were killed Thursday afternoon in the explosion of an acetylene torch at the big plant of the Trumbull Asphalt Company of Delaware in North Memphis.

The explosion tore the bodies to bits, and first reports said at least five persons were killed. However, Nelson Dale, an operator at the plant, said a thorough check of time-cards had been made and indicated that only three men—all of whom were working with the torch—were killed.

They were T. H. Wolfe, about 35; Howard Wolfe, about 16; and Henry Gleece, about 50.

Dale said the three were operating the torch near an asphalt still on the plant grounds when the torch exploded. It knocked a hole in the side of the still.

Two hours after the explosion, parts of the bodies of the victims were still being recovered.

A fourth man, Benjamin F. Herman, was treated for shock at a Memphis hospital and released.

26 Planes Ready For Cross-Country

VAN NUYS, Calif., Aug. 29—(AP)—Twenty-six aircraft, sleek, stripped and speedy, got their final grooming Thursday for Friday's Van Nuys-Cleveland Bendix trophy dash.

Weather permitting, the first planes must finish between noon port about 6:30 a. m. (PST) and the others will follow at three-minute intervals. There is no assurance that all 26 will start.

The rules provide that the planes msutf inish between noon and 6 p. m., Cleveland time, to qualify for the $25,000 prize money, but spokesmen said if fog delays departures too long, the limit can be extended.

Four Army jet jobs, not competing with the conventional planes, also are entered.

Truman Yacht Sails For Washington Today

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Aug. 29 (AP)—President Truman hauled in eight shimmering fish Thursday to bring the Bermuda phase of his vacation to a satisfactory end.

At dawn Friday, the Presidential yacht Williamsburg hoists anchor for Washington. It is scheduled to dock there at 5 p. m. Monday. A stop is planned at Hampton Roads at noon Sunday.

Setting out with rod and reel for the third time since he came to Bermuda, Mr. Truman saw his fishing luck take a turn for the better. He captained a winning team. But he yielded top honors to a teammate, Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder, who pulled in 17.

Dry Spell Eased By General Rains

Jack Frost, with his hoary whiskers and his cold breath, has arrived in the Northwestern part of the United States, and as a result Georgia farmers have received a breathing spell from the dry weather which has badly burned crops throughout the State.

Rain was rather general throughout Georgia yesterday, officials at the weather bureau reported, and it brought relief to many parched farms.

Clouds are forecast this morning, but are expected to disappear this afternoon, and tomorrow will be fair. The nights will continue to be cool, the forecaster said.

Ship Strike On Lakes Ends Today

Union Will Continue Walkout Against Seven Individual Companies

DETROIT, Aug. 29.—(UP)—The National Maritime Union (CIO) announced Thursday night it will call off its general Great Lakes shipping strike at noon Friday but will continue the walkout against seven individual shipping companies.

Strike headquarters voted unanimously to free ports on the inland waterway and send seamen back to work on ships of 10 other companies, nine of which have reached settlement agreements with the National Maritime Union.

Officials said the Union's 15-day-old attempt to tie up all Great Lakes shipping would be abandoned and the stoppage carried on individually against the seven shippers. The Union named the seven still strikebound as Nicholson Transit Company, Detroit; Inland Steel Company, Chicago; American Steel and Wire Company, Cleveland; Johnson Steamship Company, Cleveland; Brown & Shasta Company, Buffalo; Jupitor Steamship Company, Cleveland, and Texas Oil Company, New York.

They operate a total of 21 vessels.

Settlements reached by the Union were raised to nine with the announcement that Ford Motor Company had accepted the "pattern" formula of a 48-hour week at sea and 44 hours in port.

The NMU voted to end its strike against Pittsburgh Supply Company without an agreement. It operates only one vessel.

The Union said the total number of ships freed by end of the general strike was 33.

Although settlement agreements first were reached with some companies as long as last week, the NMU admitted that not all striking seamen had gone back to work. Thursday's decision was designed to lift all strike activity against the 10 shippers.

The Union said its walkout would now be "concentrated" against the seven shippers until they accept the 48-hour formula.

NMU action came after the Lake Carriers' Association at Cleveland, representing most lake shippers, announced it had accepted the NMU compromise formula.

Communism Plot On AMG Nipped

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 29—(UP)—U. S. Counter-Intelligence Corps agents have seized 15 German leaders of an espionage ring spying for Russia in the American zone and trying to infiltrate the military government system "with Germans sympathetic to Soviet Russia and Communist plans for expansion all over Germany," it was officially announced Thursday.

Army Headquarters Intelligence officers said the fact that the 15 Germans arrested all were leaders, suggested the espionage organization was of considerable size. The headquarters was in Stuttgart.

The big leader was one Walther Kazmarek, who has made a signed confession. CIC agents, on his trail for nine months, planted a dictograph while he was making a speech to his followers and recorded these cryptic words: "When the East attacks, the minister will disappear in a hurry."

Almost every device used in intelligence and counter-intelligence work was employed in getting evidence against Kazmarek and his henchmen, including the dictograph and German CIC agents planted inside Kazmarek's "Freies Deutschland (Free Germany)" organization.

CIC agents were so thoroughly entrenched in Kazmarek's organization they "recorded these meetings in their entirety," the Army said.

As Kazmarek became more powerful, and, in offical words, "a dangerous man," he branched into an extortion racket, blackmailing Stuttgart Nazis who wanted to keep their party records secret. He was working for Military Government, with full CIC knowledge, and used this position to operate in the black market.

U. S. Intelligence officers said the Russians with whom Kazmarek had been in contact had returned to the Soviet zone. The names of the other 14 leaders were not revealed.

Kazmarek, in a signed confession, said he received $5,000 marks ($500 at the Army exchange rate) from Russian repatriation officers last Fall for reporting on American troop movements in the Frankfurt area. He confessed that he was later in contact with a Maj. Droschin of Russian Intelligence.

CIC men recorded one of Kazmarek's speeches to his confederates, and they reported it as saying in part: "It is clear that we support the Soviet Russian policy to the limit. A few of us in our small circle are more to them than a few divisions—of that I am sure. When the East attacks,

REFUSE TO BUILD AUTOS FOR EXPORT

DETROIT, Aug. 29 — (UP) Twelve thousand auto workers, who badly want new cars for themselves, were idle Thursday because they refused to work on automobiles for export abroad, the Nash-Kelvinator Corporation said.

Nash said the workers refused to handle cars for foreign sales, so it had closed its plants at Milwaukee and Kenosha, Wis. The CIO United Auto Workers version of the dispute was expected later.

$150,000 Unit Planned for GMA

By HOWELL JONES

Plans for the immediate construction of a $150,000 Junior College building at the Georgia Military Academy have been revealed by Col. William R. Brewster, President of the College Park school.

Col. Brewster said the building, expected to be completed in time for the Fall opening of the school next year, will serve as a combination academic building and dormitory for junior college students.

Col. Brewster said the building, expected to be completed in time for the Fall opening of the school next year, will serve as a combination academic building and dormitory for junior college students.

To be located on Cambridge Avenue, adjacent to the school campus, the building has been designed to accommodate 100 cadets—the maximum number of students to be enrolled in the junior college during any school year, Col Brewster said.

TOP FLOORS FOR STUDENTS

The entire two top floors of the four-story structure will be used as living quarters for the cadets. Both floors will contain 25 rooms, each of which will accommodate two students. Two small apartments for teachers also will be provided on these floors.

Classrooms, scientific laboratories and mechanical drawing rooms will occupy the lower floors, he said.

Col. Brewster explained that the new junior college is being situated off the campus for the express purpose of separating college students from secondary and junior school students.

In this connection, he pointed out that cadets in junior college grades now are forced to attend some classrooms used by boys in lower grades and also must share living quarters and recreational facilities with the younger students.

LOWERS MORALE

As this practice lowers the morale of college students and otherwise has proved unsatisfactory, the Academy has deemed it advisable to separate the schools, the President added.

When the new building is occupied, the Academy will apply for a senior ROTC rating for the junior college, Col. Brewster also revealed. Recent legislation has authorized the War Department to grant senior rating to such schools, he said.

Under this setup cadets who complete the advanced course would be eligible for commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps of the United States Army. At present the school offers only the junior ROTC course, which does not qualify a cadet for a commission.

A. J. Orme, Sportsman, Dies at 46

A. J. Orme, prominent sportsman and businessman, died yesterday in a local hospital following an illness of nine months. He was 46 years old.

Mr. Orme was President of the Red Rock Company and the Red Rock Cola Company and Vice President of Hagan & Dodd, real estate and investment firm. He resided at 50 Valley Road.

A native Atlantan, he was the son of Mrs. Callie Orme and the late A. J. Orme. He attended Boys High School and was graduated from Virginia Military Institute in 1921.

He had been associated with Red Rock 18 years and with Hagan & Dodd for three years.

Known as "Quill" Orme, he was an enthusiastic follower of field trials and fancier of bird dogs. His pointer, "Little Elva," won many prizes in field trials in Atlanta and throughout the State. Formerly, he had been an outstanding golfer.

His wife is the former Miss Nellie Dodd.

He was a member of the Second-Ponce de Leon Baptist Church, Capital City Club, Piedmont Driving Club, Nine O'clock, Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity and an officer in the Atlanta Field Trial Association.

Funeral services will be held at 3:30 p. m. today at the graveside in Oakland Cemetery. Dr. Monroe F. Swilley, Jr., will officiate.

In addition to his wife and mother, he is survived by two daughters, Miss Nellie Dodd Orme and Miss Dorothy Dodd Orme, and three sisters, Mrs. William E. Huger, Mrs. William T. Healey and Mrs. Oliver Healey.

Reds Demand Death For 8 Who Fought Russia

MOSCOW, Aug. 29—(AP)—Death by hanging was asked by the State prosecutor Thursday night for Gen. Gregorie Semenov, Cossack counter - revolutionary leader, and seven co-defendants, as their trial on charges of bearing arms and spying against the Soviet Union dragged through the fourth day.

Semenov and the others were captured in Manchuria by the Red Army during Japan's fall. All pleaded guilty to the indictment.

4-Year-Old Wins Medal For Saving Sister's Life

MANLY, Iowa, Aug. 29—(UP) Four-year-old Dennis Aguilera Thursday received a gold medal for life-saving from Gov. Robert Blue, to become the youngest person ever to receive the State's official recognition for heroism.

Dennis won the award for carrying his three-year-old sister Shirley to safety when their home caught fire last February.

Food Outlook Better

BERLIN, Aug. 29—(AP)—An impressive improvement in food and agricultural conditions has been made throughout most of Europe which less than six months ago was threatened with widespread famine, Norris E. Dodd, U. S. Undersecretary of Agriculture, said Thursday following a 30-day fact-finding tour.

New Ceilings Cut Stock Shipments As Producers Forecast Meat Famine

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—(UP)—Shipments of livestock from farm to market dwindled Thursday after announcement of new OPA price ceilings and packers and producers predicted a meat famine for at least the next two months.

Supplies will continue short for 10 months to a year, they said.

Receipts at 12 major stockyards fell sharply from the flood which swamped stockyards and slaughtering houses Monday. Thursday's receipts were only 17,200 hogs, 13,900 cattle and 14,100 sheep, compared with 21,000 hogs, 30,000 cattle and 30,000 sheep Wednesday. Cattle receipts on Monday totaled 164,000.

Trading was highly irregular Thursday. Butcher hogs opened $2 to $2.50 higher at Chicago and St. Louis and $1 to $1.50 higher at Kansas City with top prices ranging from $21.50 to $23.50. Receipts failed to clear, however, and prices dropped as much as $4.50 from the top price. The new OPA ceiling for hogs, effective Sept. 1, is $16.25.

Cattle prices were weak to 50 cents lower at Chicago, but fully steady to strong elsewhere. Well-finished choice steers brought $23 to $27 wherever they were available. The new OPA ceiling for cattle is $20.25 per hundredweight.

Prices for good and choice fat lambs were steady at Chicago at $18.50 to $19, about even with the new OPA ceiling of $19 which becomes effective at market opening next Monday.

Robert Greaser, cattle expert for the Chicago Producers' Association, said there was less confusion Thursday than there had been in weeks. He said meat would be extremely short for the next 60 to 90 days because of the recent wave of heavy selling in a rush by farmers to obtain the higher prices.

"We slaughtered a lot of meat that should have been saved and fed," he said.

H. M. Conway, of the National Producers' Association, said the new ceilings were a step in the right direction and "probably will help growers and farmers."

Ukrainian Arrives

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(AP)—Dimitri Z. Manuilsky, foreign minister of the Ukraine, arrived Thursday by plane and told reporters he thought he would present to the UNO Security Council tomorrow his Government's charge that conditions in Greece endanger world peace.

U. S. Production Hits Industry's Capacity

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—Industry is pouring out civilian goods and services at a rate approaching total production at the climax of the war effort, Civilian Production Administrator John D. Small reported Thursday night.

Free for the present from the "stop-and-go" of labor discord, producers of basic materials have reached their virtual capacity, Small's monthly production report stated. Factories now are "within sight of full production of finished goods."

Automobile assembly lines ran 56 percent more in July than in June, while sewing machine output, the other outstanding laggard of reconversion, jumped 30 percent.

The gross national product—the value of the country's productive effort, in 1939—hit a $130,000,000,000 annual rate in the April-May-June quarter, the CPA director said.

"A somewhat larger increase is now indicated for the third quarter, which may bring gross national product to within five percent of the all-time peak of $142,000,000,000," the report predicted.

The peak was the second quarter of last year, the period of all-out arms production climaxed by Germany's surrender.

SHORTAGE OF CARS

The shortage of freight cars, engaging the combined efforts of eight agencies to avert a freight jam this Fall, already has caused some mills and blast furnaces in the Chicago area to shut down for lack of steel shipments, Small said.

"Freight car loadings since mid-July have exceeded those for the same weeks of any war year," he reported.

Civilian employment hit the unprecedented total of 58,100,000. The expansion of factory and commercial activity was indicated by the fact that the entire increase of 1,400,000 over June was in non-farming jobs.

SOME OUT OF WORK

Despite this "full employment," Small estimated that more than 5,000,000 workers—3,000,000 women and 2,000,000 men—have withdrawn from the labor force in the single year since V-J Day. The term "labor force" covers those in the armed services as well as those in civilian employment.

Income payments to individuals showed a rise in the second quarter for the first time since the liquidation of war production began after the European victory.

LIVING COSTS JUMP

Small declared the cost of living jumped more than five percent in connection with the 25-day lapse of OPA, with food prices rising 13 percent by the middle of July.

Shoe production dropped under June. SPA attributed this to slow movement of hides and the industry practice of shutting down for vacation periods.

Automobile production rose to 220,000 cars, still about one-third short of the prewar rate. Truck manufacturers turned out 93,000 vehicles for a 58 percent increase over June. Truck output topped prewar levels.

Other consumer goods showed this July record:

STILL UNDER PREWAR

Sewing machines, 35,000, up 30 percent from June but 48 percent under 1941.

Most building materials showed an increase, Small said, and surpluses of brick and tile will be found in 1947.

As for the basic industries, production is at such a clip that further large increases cannot be expected in the near future, the report said. Steel production rose to 90 percent of capacity by the start of this month.

Annual Pay Rolls Up to $445,000,000

By WELLINGTON WRIGHT

Atlanta is still on the way up.

The total pay roll volume for the metropolitan area, which comprises Fulton and DeKalb Counties, is now $445,000,000 a year. This compares with a wartime peak of $432,000,000 a year in the Spring of 1945.

The figures are those of Frank Shaw, Manager of the Industrial Bureau of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. He compares them with a prewar peak of $339,000,000. And he estimates that the volume for 1947 will climb to $500,000,000 a year.

Shaw says these figures of pay roll volume include those of 1,142 industrial plants in the area, as well as those of all other agencies which provide gainful employment, such as professional and business activities.

In the Atlanta metropolitan area, he estimates a present gainful employment of 224,000 persons, with an early prospect of 250,000. The wartime peak was 216,000 and the prewar high was 189,000.

These figures are in line with the latest consolidated statement of the city's banks which show deposits totaling $1,018,262,280.19. This is double the 1942 figures and four times that of 1938. It compares with a depression low of $134,000,000 and a pre-depression high of $183,000,000.

Frank Dolan, manager of the Atlanta office of USES, whose jurisdiction takes in Fulton and DeKalb Counties, estimates the volume of changes in employment—that is, persons shifting from one job to another—will amount to about 80,000 for the last six months of the year.

The first six months, he said, showed a similar shift. These changes come about, said Dolan, because persons are seeking better-paying jobs.

CREATOR OF GRIZZLEVILLE

Deft, Blind Carpenter Builds Well as Any Man in Cobb County

(Picture on Page 1)
By KATHERINE BARNWELL,
Constitution Staff Writer.

ACWORTH, Aug. 29 — George Grizzle, a stocky man who feels best when he has a hammer in his hand, has been blind — totally blind—for 50 years.

George Grizzle is a contractor, and the buildings he has constructed since he began business 15 years ago are enough to make the sharpest - sighted man in Cobb County green with envy. In fact, Grizzle has built so many houses on the north side of town the section now is often called Grizzleville.

Grizzle is a modest man and says he has only done his duty.

The people of Acworth say differently. They call him "remarkable," and admit that's an understatement.

Although he can't distinguish night from day, George Grizzle can hammer a straight nail, saw a two-by-four, climb a tall ladder and walk from ceiling rafter to ceiling rafter on a half-finished house as well as any carpenter in town.

Grizzle caused his own blindness at the age of five when he accidentally stuck a knife in his eye. He lost sight of both eyes at that time, and he says now that he can't remember when he could see.

"But I enjoy life just as much as the man with two good eyes," he hastens to say. "I've never worried about being blind. . . . There's nothing gained by worrying. I haven't made much money, but I've been happy."

HAS SIXTH SENSE

It's hard to explain how Grizzle goes effortlessly about his business of contracting and carpentering. He seems to have a sixth sense, and says he knows how every house he has built looks.

When he saws a board, he uses a miter box.

When he hammers a nail, he moves his hand back and forth from the nail as he hits it to re-establish its exact location.

Although he usually has one or more assistants on a job, Grizzle declares he could "might near" build all by himself.

Right now the blind carpenter is constructing a four-room house about a mile north of Cartersville. He is being aided by S. J. Thompson, who is both a carpenter and the pastor of the New Zion Baptist Church in Acworth, which Grizzle attends.

"I began to deal with Grizzle in 1919," Thompson said, "and I have found him to be respectable and honest in everything he does. What he tells you he'll do, he'll do. . . . And he's a good Christian, just as his wife is."

Grizzle married the former Pearl Biddy, of Acworth, when he was 25 and she was only 15.

"My parents didn't like the idea of my marrying a blind man," Mrs. Grizzle says, "but I have never regretted it."

Mrs. Grizzle said that she knew her husband two years before they were married. "We did our sparking on the sly," she explained, her hazel eyes smiling.

"We married secretly, too," she added, "and the first question my parents asked me, when they heard, was: 'How do you think you're going to live and who do you think is going to support you?'

THERE'S A WILL

"I just told them that where there's a will there's a way—and there always has been."

Grizzle has had a wide assortment of jobs. His father was a blacksmith, and the boy pursued that trade for a while. He later made baskets for cotton picking. And later he made brooms. For a good many years he was in the grocery business, and for a time his wife drove him from house to house on a wagon converted into a kind of mobile store.

But all his life, he says, he has had a hankering to do carpentering. So 15 years ago he started out to learn the tricks of the trade. What he started out to do he did.

Mr. and Mrs. Grizzle have three grown sons, W. T., Clyde and George, all of Acworth. They have four grandchildren.

Mystery Rocket Explodes in Jutland

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 29—(AP)—Dispatches from Aalborg in Northern Jutland Thursday quoted residents of a small village in that area as saying a mysterious rocket had crashed and exploded just outside the hamlet Wednesday night.

One woman, the dispatches said, reported she was standing in her garden when the sky was lit by the yellowish glow from a strange missile which passed overhead.

The object crashed with an explosion that was followed "by something that looked like a rain of stars," she added.

FALL SPEARHEAD HITS NORTHWEST

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—(AP)—Temperatures dropped to the freezing mark in Wisconsin Thursday as a mass of cold air from Central Canada extended over a large section of the Middle West.

Land O'Lakes, Wis., reported an early morning reading of 32 while temperatures in the northern part of the State and in Northern Minnesota were not much higher.

Federal forecasters said the cool weather extended from Illinois and Indiana northwest into the Dakotas and Montana and the Plains states. They said the cold mass, moderating as it moves southward, was expected to extend into Ohio, Kentucky and Tennessee.

IT'S THE HILLS!

Dad, 84, Asks For Hike in Old-Age Pay

SNEEDVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 29—(AP)—James R. Pearson, 84-year-old mountaineer whose 31-year-old wife gave birth Wednesday to an eight-pound, 12-ounce baby girl, wants the Government to increase his old age pension.

One of the first things Pearson did after the birth of the baby, according to Dr. L. A. Mulsand, the attending physician, was to hike from his mountain cabin here to report the birth to Hancock County authorities.

"It's really remarkable that a man of 84 would have three children all under school age," declared Dr. Mulsand, who said he delivered the Pearsons' other two girls, five and three years of age, respectively.

Dr. Mulsand said he attributed Pearson's vigor to his constant tramping up and down the ridges from his home into Sneedville.

"He's always going up and down those hills, but now he goes faster than ever — he wants to make sure the Government knows about this new dependent. He wants that pension increased," Dr. Mulsand declared.

Dr. Mulsand said the Pearsons' baby was only one of five he delivered Wednesday in Hancock.

"It looks like I'm going to have to build a small maternity hospital in Sneedville," he laughed.

New hope for symptomatic relief from certain forms of Cread hay fever, asthma and catarrh distress due to bronchial constriction is seen today in announcement of a vitamin-type compound reported successful in 88% of cases tested. Employing large doses Vitamin C with other highly-effective ingredients, this new relief may now be obtained in the form of safe, easy-to-take capsules, called SYNTENON — no painful, expensive injections. Men and women who formerly suffered with agonizing hay fever, rose fever, asthma, catarrh symptoms, sneezing, sniffling misery due to bronchial constriction now tell of glorious relief after using Synteneon. This is an expensive medicine, but considering results experienced, the $5.00 bottle amounts to only a few pennies per dose and SYNTENON (caution, use only as directed) is sold with strict money-back guarantee by

FRESNO, Cal., Aug. 29—(AP)—A spectacular fire, fed by a million and a half gallons of alcohol and brandy, worth $16,500,000, destroyed a Government warehouse for aging liquors about a mile south of here.

The blaze started on the loading platform of Internal Revenue Bonded Warehouse No. 52, and wind whipped the flames to the roof. Explosions spurted flames rapidly over the warehouse area of 75,000 square feet.

Firemen from the Army's Hammer Field and the United States Forest Service fought the raging blaze for nearly six hours.

John M. Damron, area gauger for the Federal Alcohol Tax Unit, said the tax alone would be $9 a gallon.

A. Nyeland, superintendent of the warehouse, was unable to estimate the loss to the building, almost totally destroyed.

Heirens Claims Suicide Tries, Fight Against Abnormality

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—(UP)—William Heirens, 17, triple killer, said in letters published Thursday he twice attempted suicide and sought unsuccessfully to overcome his abnormal urge, first experienced when he was nine, by undertaking normal social converse

He wrote the letters to his parents and to a 17-year-old girl while authorities were attempting to obtain a formal confession to his many crimes. They were seized by jailers.

Heirens said to: "Dear Mom and Dad," that he had been aware of his sexual abnormality which led him to commit burglaries and steal and put on women's clothing.

"I deduced it was sex and that the best way to overcome it was to get at the source which I did by dating girls."

"But I found them repulsive," his letter said.

He didn't succeed at first, he said.

But then he began dating Joan Slama, 17, also a co-ed to whom one of his letters was addressed, and with whom he said he was never intimate.

"Soon after I started going out with Joan I began to let up on burglaries and I decided I was winning but I still made infrequent burglaries," he wrote.

He also told of saving 32 aspirin tablets to take in a single dose, of planning to starve himself, and to break off the needle when physicians gave him a hypodermic so "The point would go to my heart and end it all."

The letters were all written before his formal confession and he denied in them the murders of the six-year-old Suzanne Degnan, former WAVE Frances Brown and Mrs. Joseph Ross, a widow.

But he wrote that he purposely had incriminated himself in the Degnan slaying by duplicating the $20,000 ransom note in a test because he wanted to die.

In one of the letters to his parents he said that judges who sent him to reform schools earlier in his criminal career had misunderstood him. He thanked his father for having been kind to him and taking him on fishing trips.

"I thanked God and promised him that I'd be good and prove myself," he wrote. "God always understood me. At that time God was all I had to help me and I believed in him."

In his letter to Miss Slama he said, "I guess you know now, I never went out with many girls."

"I want you to know that I think very much of you, more than I ever did concerning girls, with girls.

Gov. Caldwell Appeals Suit Vs. Collier's

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., Aug. 29—(AP)—Julius Parker, attorney for Gov. Caldwell, Thursday announced he has appealed the dismissal of Caldwell's $500,000 libel suit against Collier's magazine to the U. S. District Court here.

The case was dismissed June 14 by Federal Judge A. V. Long, of Gainesville, who ruled the magazine article about which the governor complained was a privileged comment on Caldwell's statements concerning the slaying of Jesse James Payne, a Negro who was taken from the Madison County Jail last Fall and shot while under indictment on charges of attempted attack.

The appeal, which will be heard in the U. S. District Court of Appeals at New Orleans, was a simple notice of intention to contest the ruling and contained no arguments in support of the action. Parker said the case might not be heard for several months.

In a statement issued with the appeal announcement, Caldwell declared "the citizens of Florida are entitled to know whether the Collier's statement was true or false.

"I am not from a personal standpoint, concerned with the financial outcome of the suit, but I do desire to have the facts established. I hope the appeal will result in affording that opportunity."

The governor has said any proceeds from the suit will be turned over to the A. and M. College for Negroes here.

Caldwell contended the magazine editorial falsely portrayed him as "approving the action of an alleged mob in taking from the protection of the law a Negro charged with attack and killing him."

Molotov Balks at Big Four Plan To Speed Up Peace Conference

PARIS, Aug. 29—(UP)—The Big Four foreign ministers, attempting to speed up the peace conference, ran into a new dispute Thursday night when Russia refused to agree that the United Nations general assembly be held while the conference is in session.

The Big Four agreed that the conference must be continued without recessing for the assembly, which is due to meet in New York Sept. 23.

But while Secretary of State Byrnes and other Big Four foreign ministers believe the assembly could meet while the peace conference is in session, Russian Foreign Minister Viacheslav Molotov balked.

Molotov said neither Russia nor smaller nations had enough diplomats to hold both meetings at the same time.

Molotov proposed another postponement of the assembly meeting—which was originally set for next week—and it was decided to think the matter over.

No time was set for the next Big Four meeting. But the foreign ministers agreed that their deputies should meet Friday to consider more than 200 amendments submitted in the five treaties the Big Four drafted for Italy and Axis satellites.

The deputies will try to decide which amendments, if any, the Big Four should approve as a unit.

If approval is impossible, the Big Four will oppose the amendments and thus suport the original drafts.

The Big Four met in an intimate atmosphere in the office of Premier Georges Bidault in the Foreign office. Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin represented Britain.

Byrnes was accompanied by Sens. Connally, Democrat, Texas, and Vandenberg, Republican, Michigan, and Charles Bohlen, interpreter.

AGREE TO MEET AGAIN

The foreign ministers agreed to meet again, on Bidault's call, after their deputies have studied the amendments.

Friday there will be a plenary session of the conference to hear the views of Iran on the Italian treaty.

In London Britain refused to accept the Mufti of Jerusalem as a delegate to scheduled London conferences on the future of Palestine, and the action immediately aroused speculation that the Arabs would boycott the discussions entirely.

The Colonial Office, in announcing the decision, did not explain why Britain had rejected the Mufti, who had been nominated as a delegate by the Arab higher executive, but there had been hints he would be unacceptable because of his wartime association with the Axis powers, for which he had broadcast propaganda.

The Mufti fled Jerusalem in 1939 after having aroused British ire because of activities which Britain said were anti-British and which his followers said were in behalf of the Arab Nationalist movement.

It was not immediately clear how the position would affect the already - announced decisions of four Arab states to attend the discussions, scheduled to begin Sept. 9.

SENTENCES COMMUTED

Meantime, the British in Jerusalem announced Gen. Sir Evelyn Barker, British Military Commander in Palestine, had commuted to life imprisonment the death sentences of 18 members of the Stern terrorist gang. They were convicted for attacking the railroad yard in Haifa, June 6.

After the conviction of the gangsters two weeks ago threats were broadcast over the clandestine radio that high British officers throughout the Holy Land would be slain if the 18 were executed.

Trouble flared anew in Italy where hundreds of Partisans, ignoring pleas of their leaders to disband and go home, rioted in the Eastern Piedmont region, mauled alleged Fascists and black marketers in Alessandria and were reported to have kidnaped several prominent industrialists.

Reports from Casale, near Alessandria, said an ultimatum had been issued by the Partisans to the industrialists, including these demands: that they hire 200 Partisans within three days: that they reduce the work week in their factories to 40 hours: that they pay wages to Partisans who cannot work because of their Partisan commitments.

MOVE TO UNIFY CHINA

Formation of a committee headed by Dr. J. Leighton Stuart, the American Ambassador to China, to smooth the way for a coalition Government to unify China was reliably reported in Nanking.

This development, coming at a time of renewed strife, and after peace negotiations had been stalemated for weeks bolstered hope for eventual settlement of the nation's troublesome internal difficulties.

At Lake Success, N. Y., Soviet Russia invoked the veto against the applications of Trans-Jordan, Portugal and Ireland for admission to the United Nations.

After a long and bitter wrangle the United Nations Security Council failed to approve the membership applications of Russian-sponsored Albania and Outer Mongolia.

The only nations approved at the end of nearly eight hours of argument and maneuvering were Afghanistan, Iceland and Sweden.

'PLEASE BELIEVE ME, IT IS A HOLDUP!' THE LADY FOUND IT SURE ENOUGH WAS

CHICAGO, Aug. 29—(AP)—Miss Veronica Gore, 28, was busy counting the receipts in her cashier's cage at a Loop restaurant near closing time when a man walked up and told her to give him the money.

Miss Gore, she told central police, thought the man was joking, although he carried a pistol. She kept busy counting the money in the cash register.

But the robber was adamant. He wanted the money, he insisted, but Miss Gore excused herself as Herbert E. Case, a patron, came to the cashier's cage for some matches.

Then the gunman repeated his demands and told Miss Gore he was not joking; he told Case that he came to the restaurant only to obtain money by larcenous methods and the cashier should believe him.

Miss Gore told police that as the gunman refused to leave he finally convinced her that he was holding her up. She said she handed him $90—all in $1 bills.

Red Ration Of Food Stays Another Year

MOSCOW, Aug. 29—(UP)—The Presidium of the Supreme Soviet Thursday decreed one additional year of rationing for Russia in an attempt to build up Soviet food stocks which have declined sharply due to drought and a lack of machinery in the great Ukraine granary.

The surprise announcement postponed for one year the frequently promised abolition of food rationing scheduled to go into effect this Fall. The decision of the Presidium was carried on the front page of all Moscow newspapers.

"In connection with drought in a number of districts of the USSR and a decrease of the state's food stocks, the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet of the USSR has decreed acceptance of the Council of Ministers' application to postpone abolition of the food card system from 1946 to 1947," the announcement said.

Marshal Josef Stalin, in anticipation of good harvests, promised the Soviet people in a pre-election speech last February that the rationing of bread and bread products would be abolished before the end of this year. Several announcements in the Soviet press since then have reiterated plans to abolish rationing.

The drouth which caused a sharp decline in Soviet grain stocks ruined almost the entire Winter grain crop and brought forth a decree ordering the Russians to plow up ruined Winter crop areas and replant them with Spring crops.

Food experts of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration first reported the seriousness of the Russian drought and also the damaging effects created by German destruction of agricultural machinery.

Because of the loss of machinery, Ukrainian peasants were forced to plant and harvest by hand. They also were forced to use cows as draft animals, causing a drastic fall in milk production.

According to the latest available reports from Russia as of last July, the basic monthly ration for a Russian family would average 225 pounds of bread, eight pounds of fats, nine pounds of sugar, 20 pounds of meat and fish and 22 pounds of cereal.

In addition, a man and wife often receive extra meal tickets enabling them to eat where they work and they may buy additional food in open markets if they have the money.

There are several kinds of food cards, the highest priority going to scientific workers and intellectuals, officials, foreign diplomats and other special groups. Most nonfarming citizens come within the workers' category, however.

Poet Don West, Here on Visit, Will Join Oglethorpe Faculty

Don West, the young Georgia poet whose first volume, "Clods of Southern Earth," has won nationwide acclaim for its honesty and realism, said here yesterday that he still is amazed by the "surprising reception" his book has received.

West, whose collection of short poems broke a publishing record when 13,000 copies were sold before the books came from the press, was in Atlanta as the featured author-guest of the New Georgian Book Shop, 106 Forsyth St., N. W., which had its grand opening yesterday.

West took time out from autographing books to disclose his future plans for writing a novel, "No Lonesome Road," and a history of the South, in which he will reveal some "facts never before recorded."

The Georgia poet, born and reared in Gilmer County, near Ellijay, now lives on a 200-acre farm outside of Cartersville. He frankly declares that he comes from stock commonly known as "pore white trash."

"My folks," he explained, "were the men who wore jean pants and the women who wore linsey petticoats. They had nothing to do with the genteel tradition."

Despite the fact that he holds numerous degrees and has studied at the University of Georgia, Vanderbilt, Columbia, Chicago and several European schools, West says his "best education came not from classrooms, but was beaten into me by the everlasting toil and hunger I've seen. It was the education of life."

In "Clods of Southern Earth" he writes of "share-croppers, tenants, black men and Crackers." And he writes of them without "star dust" in his eyes.

West said yesterday that he has been invited to join the faculty of Oglethorpe University this Fall. He will teach Sacred Literature (the Prophets of the Old Testament) and writing English.

CAB Counsel Hits Stops Planned on Southern Routes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Board's own public counsel urged it Thursday to delete some new Southeastern routes and stops recommended by its examiners. He approved many of their proposals, however, and suggested some new ones of his own.

Merle Lyon, the CAB counsel, also proposes that he board "go slow" in deciding all trunk-line applications for new Southeastern services and that action on several be deferred until decisions are reached in other cases.

Fifty cities from the area completed Thursday the presentation of their cases. Most of them not only asked what the examiners recommended, but even more service. Generally their plea was for direct, through, trunk-line additions.

Lyon concurred with Examiners Ross Newman and Curtis Henderson that Piedmont Aviation, Inc., Southern Airways, Inc., Commonwealth Air Transport and State Airlines, Inc., were "best qualified" to operate feeder networks proposed for them and involving stops in Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, Missouri, West Virginia, Tennessee, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida and Maryland.

Lyon, however, asked the board to insert a requirement that they service "each and every certificated point on every flight" to prevent competition with trunk-line operators.

In addition, he found "serious fault" with some routes recommended, saying they lacked "proper integration and co-ordination."

He asked that decision on Pennsylvania-Central's application to extend Route 51 through the Carolinas to Washington and from Birmingham to Mobile be deferred until the board settled a pending Boston-to-New Orleans case.

On the other hand, he expressed no opposition to PCA's extending Route 51 from Knoxville to Memphis via Chattanooga, and from Knoxville to Chattanooga, Hickory, Winston-Salem and Charlotte. Both were recommended by examiners.

Extension of PCA to Jacksonville, Fla., via the Carolinas was opposed by Lyon on grounds it would duplicate portions of Eastern, Delta and National routes.

Lyon objected to placing Louisville and Richmond on American's transcontinental system, because of competition with Eastern between Louisville and Washington, but supported the proposal to place Louisville on Trans World's cross-country system through St. Louis. He opposed the placing of Louisville on American's line between Knoxville and Nashville, and urged the board to withhold a decision, including Hagerstown and Cumberland, Md., on TWA routes until it considers a pending Middle-Atlantic States case.

SWEET SUE

Adopted Lass To Visit 150 Godfathers

Pretty, soft-spoken Sue Johnston, adopted daughter of 150 men in Vidalia, will fly by chartered plane to see all 150 "godfathers" come next Tuesday.

"I guess I'm the luckiest girl in the world," she says.

Nineteen-year-old Sue has lived in the Baptist Children's Home in Hapeville since she was six. The blue-eyed, brown-haired girl was "adopted" by members of the Men's Bible Class in the First Baptist Church of Vidalia when she was graduated from high school two years ago.

These men, whom Sue describes simply as "swell," are sending her to Bessie Tift College, where she will be a junior next Fall.

Sue has visited in Vidalia on several previous occasions—so she "knows" she's going to have a good time when she makes her week-long visit, beginning Tuesday.

Winston Ivey, President of the Vidalia Baptist Class, promises her visit will be marked by a round of social affairs. A plane not only will take her from Atlanta to Vidalia, but will return her to Bessie Tift when college reopens.

"It's my first plane trip," said Sue. "I'm pretty excited."

Sue is extremely popular with all her "godfathers." They see that she gets just about as much mail as Betty Grable or Lana Turner.

Sue has given them reason to be proud of her, too. She makes good grades and is prominent in extracurricular activities on the campus. After graduation she plans to be a Spanish interpreter. Spanish is her major subject now.

Sue Johnston is the third girl to have been "adopted" by the Vidalia Bible Class. Each of her predecessors was likewise provided with the advantages of education in a Baptist denominational college.

THEY MEET CHALLENGE

5 Georgia Boys Battle Cotton's Weevil Enemy

Constitution State News Service.

CARTERSVILLE, Aug. 29—Georgia's candidate for Governor in 1965, 16-year-old Barry Phillips, hit the Bartow County cotton fields thsi week with a hand-picked crew of five husky South Georgia youths. He proved to the Barrow Boll Weevil Club that if a good cotton picker makes a good Governor, he's their man for the position in 1966.

Phillips, All - Southern Prep Guard last season, and his four buddies arrived here in response to a challenge first issued by the Cartersville Tribune - News and sent him by the Bartow Boll Weevil Club. The challenge asked the youth who a few weeks ago announced his candidacy for the governorship in 1966 to "prove your worth by coming to the Cartersville area and seeing what you can do to help get our cotton picked."

Phillips came, and with him he brought Altheus Holliman, Bobby Blackburn, Joe Edwards, all of Valdosta, and Bob Short, of Newnan.

Holliman, who won the Waycross-Valdosta bicycle race last July despite an injured leg, was the first of the squad to qualify for membership in the Boll Weevil Club. The club is composed of high school youths who are interested in getting the State's tremendous cotton crop picked and in ridding the crop of boll weevils.

To qualify as a member, each candidate must catch and kill a boll weevil in the fields and pick his or her weight in cotton.

All six of the boys will be qualified for membership by the time of the dance at the High School Friday night.

Phillips will make the first formal campaign speech of his visit here to the young people during an intermission in the dance, inviting them to take the lead in a State-wide youth movement to help labor-starved farmers get in this season's cotton.

Under young Phillips' leadership, the boll picking has increased steadily each day since they started, amounting to nearly a bale Wednesday. Rain halted their activities Thursday.

Eatonton Legion, VFW Plan Vets Service Club

EATONTON, Aug. 29—Under the auspices of the local posts of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion, a veterans' service club is being planned for Eatonton.

George F. Ellis, VFW Adjutant, stated the two organizations will outfit the office with reading material and provide the veterans with all of the latest information on rights and privileges of the former servicemen.

Cut in 3rd Army Workers, 3,976

Ordering a cut in the number of its civilian employes, the War Department allotted a reduction of 3,976 workers from the Third Army's present staff of 17,828, according to a Washington AP release yesterday.

The cut, in accord with President Truman's and Congressional economy orders, will affect 53,079 War Department workers of the nation's total of 572,579 civilians.

Gen. Oscar W. Griswold, Commanding officer of the Third Army Area, which includes seven Southern States, said he could not estimate how many civilian employers would be cut off in the Atlanta Headquarters area. Cuts from 1,066 to 879 have already been made, headquarters attaches stated.

SUGAR GAZETTE

Box Car Nets 1,400 Lbs., 'Hunt,' Jail

Two bitter-sweet stories about sugar are in the news today.

Ernest Poole, a special agent of the Central of Georgia Railway, reported to police that the seal of a box car had been broken and 1,400 pounds of sugar had been stolen early this week. The car was stationed at a crossing near the Farmers Market at Lee Street, Poole said.

A hunt for "contraband sugar," which ended with police finding nothing but cobwebs in an old barn on the edge of town, resulted in a $27 fine for Luscoe Clack, of Brookhaven, in the City Recorder's court yesterday on a charge of malicious mischief.

Detectives W. M. Cox and M. V. Moss explained that Clack, who gave police a "tip" about an alleged hidden store of sugar, accompanied the two officers to its supposed hiding place.

"Well, men, I'll see you later," said Clack, "I live just a little way down the road."

The two detectives, however, obliged Clack with a return trip to town, this time to the City jail.

WOLF WHISTLES AT WORK—$10 FINE

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 29. (AP)—It cost Wesley Stewart, 35, more than $10 Thursday to whistle at a woman and a girl.

Municipal Judge John L. Niblack dusted off an 1890 statute, renewed in 1926, to assess the fine and costs.

Stewart was charged with whistling at a married woman as he cruised in his coupe. She ignored him. Then he whistled at a 13-year-old girl, the charge added. Her parents notified police.

Stewart told Judge Niblack he was whistling for a woman friend, but the court was not convinced.

'Admiral's' Fleet Still on Beach

LONG BEACH, Cal., Aug. 29—(AP)—The offshore gambling career of Tony Cornero Stralla was dealt another legal blow Thursday by proxy.

Superior Judge Fred Miller denied to George Garvin, water taxi operator, a temporary restraining order preventing interference with operation of his small craft between the gambling casino, Bunker Hill, and shore. However, Judge Miller granted Garvin's appeal that 11 water taxis, impounded by the District Attorney Aug. 8, be returned to him.

The prosecutor had seized the boats on the ground that they were needed as evidence in the forthcoming trial of Stralla and several associates on gambling conspiracy charges. The court held, however, that the District Attorney had pictures of the boats and, in any case, the craft couldn't be brought into court.

Police 'Record Room' Plans Go to Council Group Soon

Mayor Hartsfield has informed City Council's Police Committee that plans for construction of a combination fingerprint bureau and modernized and up-to-date record room at Police Station will be submitted by Burge & Stevens, Architects, in 10 days.

Plans for erection of the new structure, which will be located on a court between the Chief's office and the main prison, were related by the Mayor at last night's meeting of the Police Committee.

Hartsfield said record machines will enable prosecuting officers to present a complete record of the prisoner to the court the morning after he is arrested, and that the previous record of an accused person should be a consideration in meting out punishment. He added it will be the practice of the department to fingerprint everyone arrested except for extremely minor offenses.

No estimates of cost of the new structure were available because studies are still in preliminary stages.

Committee members also voted to recommend revocation of all licenses issued to the Bataan Rendezvous, 99 1-2 Peachtree St., after officers said they uncovered a gaming house at the place.

An effort by City Personnel Director Carl T. Sutherland to waive residence requirements in recruiting Police Women was vetoed by the committee. Sutherland said he had not been able to find qualified applicants who have lived in Atlanta for the past two years, and urged a waiver of residence.

Patrolman G. M. Ellis was dismissed from servcie after being convicted of charges of being absent from his post without leave. He said he had been forced to repair his own home because of his inability to hire competent help, but Chief Hornsby and other superior officers complained that he took 64 days off this year without obtaining permission. They contended the absences were in violation of departmental rules, and Hornsby warned that if other members of the department took the same liberties, Atlanta "would not have a police force."

WAC Is Relieved Of Plot Count in Huge Jewel Haul

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 29—(UP)—The prosecution rested its case against WAC Capt. Kathleen Nash Durant Thursday, and a 10-man court-martial struck out a charge that she had conspired with her Colonel-bridegroom and Major to steal the House of Hesse's $1,500,000 crown jewels.

Her attorneys failed, however, to get the court to quash two remaining counts of larceny and one count each of embezzlement. After an 18-day continuance to allow defense witnesses to be brought to Frankfurt from the United States, her attorneys will open their defense against those charges.

Mrs. Durant, who has gone through most of the seven days of her trial with the casual attitude of an onlooker, did not seem surprised when the court struck out the charge that she "did wilfully and unlawfully conspire with Col. Jack W. Durant (her husband) and Maj. David F. Watson individualaly and collectively to convert to their own use" more than 200 precious stones.

the minister will disappear in a hurry."

The ring was operating within the Military Government-approved "Freies Deutschland (Free Germany)" organization. CIC agents captured the leaders when the ring attempted to "regain contact with Russian agents and sent a courier into the Russian zone," the official report said.

The agents started investigating Kazmarek last December, when he was working for the Military Government as a special investigator and posing as a CIC informant.

CIC agents arranged for him to be given a free hand for his activities, and allowed his "Freies Deutschland" organization to be recognized, with German agents of the U. S. as members.

The official report showed Kazmarek had promoted a program "dedicated to a long-range political program intended to penetrate important Military Government positions with Germans sympathetic to Soviet Russia and Communist plans for expansion all over Germany."

M'Arthur Counts Jap Machine Out

TOKYO, Friday, Aug. 30—(AP)—The gigantic military machine of the Japanese Empire has been completely destroyed and the last remnants of her military forces are streaming nome to a nation in the throes of reconversion to democratic and peaceful ways of life, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters reported today.

Exactly one year ago Friday, approximately 17,000 American soldiers, marines and sailors spearheaded the peaceful occupation of Japan and since then approximately 4,000,000 Japanese troops in the home islands and 2,500,000 abroad have been disarmed and their weapons destroyed. In addition, 2,000,000 civilians have been returned home from overseas.

200 To Receive Degrees Today At University

Constitution State News Service.

ATHENS, Aug. 29 — Alvin T. Wallace, senior in the College of Agriculture and veteran of World War II, will deliver the valedictory address on "The Challenge of Peace" at the University of Georgia's Summer Commencement Friday.

Wallace will discuss the effects of war and peace on the lives of the average American, and the way in which they are now molding a lasting peace.

Wallace has made an outstanding record at the University. He was editor of the Georgia Agriculturist, President of Ag Club, and member of Alpha Zeta, national honorary fraternity in agriculture.

He will receive his bachelor of science degree in agriculture, with a major in agronomy. He will go to North Carolina State College, Raleigh, in September to begin work leading to a Ph. D., in plant breeding. While there he will be a graduate assistant in research.

Dr. L. L. Hendren, acting dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, also will address approximately 200 seniors at the University Chapel.

Blakely Plans Airport Project

Constitution State News Service.

BLAKELY, Aug. 29—The contract for erecting steps up the largest of the Indian mounds in Kolomoki State Park, near Blakely, was let this week to C. W. Shierling, Blakely contractor, according to the Chamber of Commerce.

The steps are to be of concrete, with galvanized pipe railings on either side, with a concrete landing at top and bottom. Work on this project is expected to begin this week.

The Chamber of Commerce office also announced the airport site near Bancroft on the Arlington-Blakely highway, recently inspected by H. G. Spencer, of the Civil Aeronautics Authority Regional Office, Atlanta, will receive a favorable report. Tentative plans for the airport call for two 3,500-by-500-foot runways. The airport is to be about half way between Blakely and Arlington and will serve both these two Early County towns.

Athens To Hold Big Air Carnival

Constitution State News Service.

ATHENS, Aug. 29—A two-day show, the All-Georgia Air Carnival, will be held here Sept. 28-29 under sponsorship of Classic City Post No. 185 of the American Legion and the Chamber of Commerce.

An annual event started in 1941 by Ben Gunn, in charge of aviation instruction at the University of Georgia, the show is expected to draw thousands to the local airport. An Aviation Ball and Beauty Pageant will be held the night of Sept. 28, when Miss All-Georgia Aviation will be chosen and crowned.

Among pilots already entered in the contest for the title of All-Georgia Acrobatic Ace is Beverly Howard, one of the world's best acrobatic pilots, according to Gunn, who expects many other entries.

Water Works Expansion Set For Columbus

COLUMBUS, Aug. 29—(AP)—Construction of a $255,000 addition to the Columbus Water Works, which will include filters designed to double the present water capacity, will be started immediately, George R. Lowe, Jr., Water Works General Manager, announced Thursday.

When completed the plant will have a capacity of 18,000,000 gallons of water a day, with a safe overload of 25,000,000 gallons, Lowe said.

"Present water consumption in Columbus amounts to 11,000,000 gallons daily," Lowe said, "and with the doubling of water capacity we expect to take care of the City's growth for another estimated 10 years."

State Schools To Share $75,000,000 U. S. Fund

Georgia expects to participate in a $75,000,000 Federal fund provided for veterans' training facilities and already has taken steps to obtain necessary improvements in the University System and units of the Department of Education.

Funds for the veterans, provided under the Lanham Act, require no State matching and are awarded on the basis of need for facilities to train ex-servicemen. There are no State quotas.

Faced with the problem of educating thousands of veterans, the State Board of Regents already has begun a survey to show the need of various units of the University, it was revealed yesterday.

At the same time, Dr. M. D. Collins, State School Superintendent, said the Board of Education would meet shortly to decide how much his Department will ask. Money allotted the Board of Education would be used for institutions offering training below college level.

The Education Department pointed out that 7,441 veterans have signed training agreements for trade and industrial instruction. Facilities are available only for 1,200.

Under the Act all facilities necessary for training veterans, except housing, are provided by the Federal Works Agency. This includes classrooms, laboratories and expendable materials where available.

The Federal Office of Education approves the institutions as to need, recommending them to the FWA which administers the money. This phase of the Government's program for veterans has high priority and States will receive the grants without the necessity of local matching funds.

In furnishing the facilities, the FWA will attempt to use surplus property as much as possible but will not be restricted to this type of material.

Improvements to Hunter Field, in Savannah, and expansion of Georgia Tech, two units of the University System, probably will be first on Georgia's list of proposed projects, it was pointed out.

Four of Five Seized in New Alabama Break

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Aug. 29. (AP)—Only one convict remained at large Thursday night following the second mass escape in less than 48 hours from Draper Prison.

Five white men fled from a work gang in a field near the prison Thursday morning only a short while after bloodhounds had run down the last two of the nine prisoners who crawled to freedom through a pipeline ditch Tuesday night.

Four of the five were recaptured, however, in less than two hours.

Meanwhile, in Montgomery, Arthur Heustess, Assistant State Prison Director, prepared a public report on Tuesday's break and started an investigation of the new one.

Grantland Rice's Daughter Is Wed

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29—(INS) Florence Rice, lovely blonde daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grantland Rice, was married Thursday afternoon to Frederick Butler, in the garden of the Chapman Park Hotel in Los Angeles.

The wedding was so sudden that Florence's famed sportswriting father, Grantland, could not make a plane reservation to do the honors of giving her away—so he commissioned the family friend, Newell Vanderhoef, to do it for him.

It is the second marriage for Florence, who obtained a divorce about four years ago from Robert Wilcox, and the first for the bridegroom, a young businessman of La Jolla, Cal. He has been in the Army three years and just received his discharge.

Once Held by Russians, U. S. Officers Face Trial

BERLIN, Aug. 29 — (AP) — Two American officers, who were held almost a month by the Russians on accusations of spying after they had illegally entered the Russian zone, were charged by the United States Army Thursday of violating an order prohibiting unauthorized travel into another occupied zone.

Capt. Harold Cobin, of New York City, and 2d Lt. George E. Wyatt, of Oklahoma City, will be tried by a general court martial in early September under Article of War 96 which forbids "a disorder and neglect to the prejudice of good order and military discipline," the Army announced.

Cobin and Wyatt disappeared into the Russian zone on July 4. Despite American Army representations, the Russians disclaimed all knowledge of their whereabouts. On July 30, however, the Russians turned them over to American authorities.

Community Interest Set for VA Hospitals

In an effort to bring community life to veterans' hospitals and to give patients an opportunity to participate in community activity, representatives of service and patriotic groups yesterday organized a Veterans' Administration Voluntary Service Committee.

David Camp, 5, Killed Beneath Trailer's Wheel

David Camp, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Z. F. Camp, of Azlee Place, was instantly killed yesterday when he ran into the trailer of a gasoline truck in front of 2994 Bankhead Hwy.

Buford S. Beaver, 46, of Smyrna, driver of the heavily loaded vehicle, said he was traveling West on the highway at 30 miles per hour when he saw two children dart into the road, according to Fulton County Patrolmen F. J. Haynes and J. B. Aiken.

Hearing screams, he told police he stopped and found the boy under a rear wheel. His seven-year-old sister, Melba, was endeavoring to drag him from under it.

Police reported Beaver called a Grady ambulance whose doctor pronounced the boy dead. A. W. Galusha, of 909 Washington St., S. W., following the truck in an automobile, corroborated Beaver's statements, the report said. Beaver was arrested on a charge of involuntary manslaughter.

Besides his parents and sister, the boy is survived by another sister, Brenda; four brothers, Preston, Charles, Aldean and J. C., and three grandparents, J. T. Estes, of Ellenwood, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Camp, of Decatur.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today in the Mozley Drive Baptist Church, with the Rev. Charles Duncan officiating. Burial will be in The Rock churchyard, Clayton County.

Job of Postmaster

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—The Civil Service Commission announced Thursday it will receive applications for the postmasterships at Tifton, Ga., and Orangeburg, S. C. The deadline for appointments is Sept. 23.

Deaf Mute, 8, Killed by Auto

AMERICUS, Aug. 29—(AP)—Gene Crumpton, 8-year-old deaf mute son of Mr. and Mrs J. W. Crumpton, was killed Thursday when struck by a car on a highway near Americus.

Army Chaplain To Be Installed

Thomas H. McDill, Jr.

Rev. Thomas H. McDill, Jr., former Army chaplain, will be installed at 11 a. m. Sunday as the new pastor of the Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church here.

Graduating from the Erskine Theological Seminary in the Spring of 1940, he was ordained by the First Presbytery at Charlotte, N. C., and served at Russellville, Ark., for two years. In 1942 he entered the Army, serving at Bougainville, the Solomon Islands and Luzon. He was awarded the Legion of Merit for his work.

Discharged in March, this year, he entered the Princeton Theological Seminary for a refresher course, where he studied until his call to Atlanta.

McDill succeeds Dr. S. A. Tinkler who, after 12 years in Atlanta, has accepted a call as pastor of the York, S. C., Associate Reformed Presbyterian Church.

Blind Youth Hurt By Street Car

A 24-year-old blind youth, running to catch a street car, was knocked down by the car yesterday at the corner of Ormond and Fraser Streets, S. E., yesterday afternoon and taken to Grady Hospital with a fractured skull.

Radio Patrolmen A. H. Jones and C. M. Cloud identified the victim as James Daniel, of Pine Lake, an employe of the Atlanta Community Shop at 59 Ormond St., S. E.

A charge of reckless driving and accident was booked against S. Mosely, of 833 Cherokee Ave., S. E., the operator of the car.

Arnall Asks Truman To Bare Data on Klan

By CARLTON THOMAS,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Gov. Ellis Arnall, of Georgia, has confirmed that he has written a confidential letter to President Truman and unimpeachable State sources said it contained an appeal for Federal information in the State's fight against the Ku Klux Klan.

The Governor said only that he had asked the President to allow the Justice Department to make known its data concerning organizations preaching racial and religious intolerance.

Arnall added that the letter also involved a specific case "in which the State is very interested and is pending in the courts of Georgia," and was written at the request of the State Law Department.

He denied Washington reports that his request for full Federal publicity on certain organizations presumably including the Ku Klux Klan involved an appeal for Federal aid in his fight against the group.

This was supported by a spokesman at the office of the State's Attorney General.

Arnall declined to make public the note, saying it was the President's privilege to do so.

Unimpeachable State Capitol sources, who refused to be identified, said that the letter was written to the President in an effort to obtain information in the State's fight against the Ku Klux Klan.

They said that the letter sought help for a fight against "racial and religious intolerance in the nation as a whole . . . not Georgia alone."

They said that the Governor had asked the President to allow the Justice Department to release information it had concerning anti-racial and religious organizations.

Some of the information in the hands of the Justice Department was said to have been obtained in Germany.

They said the fight in Georgia was one for the nation as a whole and not for a single State.

Under Gov. Arnall's direction the State of Georgia has been pushing a fight to revoke the charter of the Ku Klux Klan in the State. The spokesman said the information would help a great deal in the fight.

A further delay in the legal battle against the Klan came yesterday. Judge Bond Almand allowed a postponement of the hearing seeking to revoke the State charter of the KKK. The delay was allowed because of the ill health of Morgan Belser, Klan attorney. The hearing was originally set for the week of Sept. 13.

Pennsylvania Governor Asks for Probe of Klan

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 29—(AP)—Gov. Edward Martin ordered State Police Thursday to make "a full and complete investigation" of the Ku Klux Klan in Pennsylvania after receiving a copy of a KKK-signed newspaper advertisement proclaiming "We are here to stay."

Martin also wired U. S. Atty Gen. Tom Clark requesting that the Federal Bureau of Investigation include the Keystone State in its inquiry into the hooded order "to supplement work of the Pennsylvania State Police."

The inquiry was asked by Justice Meier Steinbrink of the New York State Supreme Court. He sent Martin a photostatic copy of the advertisement headed "KKK—An Open Letter to the Public," and signed "Franklin County Klan," with a Chambersburg, Pa., post office box number.

"The Jews have their organization, the Catholics theirs and the Protestants have the Klan," said the advertisement, published in the Chambersburg Public Opinion. "We are here to stay and God help America if we die. Men, join the Klan and get both sides of the story first-handed."

Mississippi Executive Indorses Arnall's Views

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 29—(INS) — Acting Gov. Fielding Wright, of Mississippi, said Thursday night that he "thinks it would be a good idea" for the Justice Department to reveal publicly information gathered on organizations fostering racial and religious intolerance.

Commenting on a letter written by Gov. Arnall, of Georgia, to President Truman, Acting Gov. Wright said:

"I don't see where it would do any harm. I think it would be a good idea, and, as a matter of fact, I'd like very much to know myself who is behind all this."

Gov. Wright told International News Service that, "as far as we know, there is no Ku Klux Klan in Mississippi."

Asked about three fiery crosses ignited in Jackson last week, the acting Governor said:

"I think someone might possibly be trying to give us the impression that there is a Klan here, but as far as we have been able to find out, there is none."

He said there is also "no racial problem in Mississippi," and added:

"And we wouldn't have any if they would let us alone."

By "they" the acting Governor said he meant "those meddlers from above the Mason-Dixon line who continually try to stir something up here in the South."

"When 'they' thought we had a lynching here at Magee," he said, "they got all stirred up, but when we told them the true situation—that there was no racial disturbance—they quickly forgot about the whole thing."

Eviction Suit Brings Fulton Judge to Court

Judge Robert Carpenter, of the Civil Court of Fulton County, will appear as defendant in Federal court today in answer to an OPA complaint that he evicted tenants from the Cox Carlton Hotel "without complying with notices as required by rent regulation for hotels."

The complaint, filed by James M. Roberts, District Enforcement Attorney for the OPA, charges that the Carpenters served written notice on two tenants the morning of Aug. 24, that they would be evicted at 4 p. m. the same day. The tenants, the OPA alleges, were residing at the Cox-Carlton on a monthly basis, as were approximately 50 others when the OPA went out of existence.

During the interim before its re-instatement the proprietors of the Cox-Carlton allegedly placed all tenants on a daily basis, raising the rents from $60 a month to $5 a day, later reducing it to $4 a day to comply with OPA price ceilings.

The complaint filed by the OPA attorney seeks a permanent injunction to restrain the Carpenters from "evicting, attempting or threatening to evict directly or indirectly any tenants of the Cox-Carlton Hotel and from violating any provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act. Six other tenants of the hotel have been summoned as witnesses.

C. of Ga. Adds 8 New Diesels To State Runs

The Central of Georgia Railway has gone "Diesel-minded."

Eight Diesel - powered locomotives, recently delivered to the Central, are now in operation on the lines between Atlanta and Albany, Atlanta and Savannah and Atlanta and Columbus. For the past 10 days, Diesel experts have been "breaking in" the Central's engineers on the use of the new type locomotives.

All of the Central's Diesel-driven engines are now in the passenger service, most of them pulling the Chicago-Florida express trains between Atlanta and Albany. However, there is one Diesel-powered train on the run between Atlanta and Savannah and another between Atlanta and Columbus.

The Central is now awaiting delivery of the coach equipment for a streamlined, air - conditioned Diesel-powered train between Atlanta and Savannah and equipment for a similar train between Atlanta and Columbus. It hopes to put the Savannah-Atlanta train in operation in November and the Atlanta-Columbus train in January.

Each of these trains will have a name not yet selected. Their equipment, besides the Diesel-driven engine, will consist of a combination baggage, express and passenger car, two coaches and a grill car.

In addition to these trains, the Central's Seminole, running between Albany and Birmingham, is also now Diesel-powered.

The Seaboard and Southern Railways put in Diesel-equipment for some of its trains, both passenger and freight, shortly before the outbreak of the late war.

Wife Asks for Help To Find Husband

A wife with a six-week-old baby yesterday asked Atlantans to help find her husband who has been missing from their East Point home since Monday.

Mrs. Millard C. Haley reported to Atlanta police that her husband left home at 236 Connally Drive, Monday, to go to a dry cleaning plant and has not been heard from since.

She declared she had no reason to suspect foul play nor could she understand why he had left home. A lapse of memory may have occurred, she said. Haley was described as five feet, 11 inches tall, weighing 190 pounds with blond hair and gray eyes. He is 23 years old.

Police records also revealed that Betty Joyce Denney, 16, of Route 1, Stone Mountain, has been missing since Aug. 21. Miss Denney, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Denney, was last seen when she drew her check as a telephone operator. She left to cash it saying she would return. However, she has been missing since that time.

Does Stomach Gas and Bloat Make You Feel Miserable?

If so, here is how you may get blessed relief in freeing your stomach from this nervous distress. It works this way: Everytime food enters the stomach a vital gastric juice must flow normally to break-up certain food particles; else the food may ferment. Sour food, acid indigestion and gas frequently cause a morbid, touchy, fretful, peevish, nervous condition, loss of appetite, underweight, restless sleep, weakness.

To get real relief you must increase the flow of this vital gastric juice. Medical authorities, in independent laboratory tests on human stomachs, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in increasing this flow when it is too little or scanty due to a non-organic stomach disturbance. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps build-up non-organic, weak, watery blood in nutritional anemia—so with a good flow of this gastric digestive juice, plus rich red-blood you should eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better.

Avoid punishing yourself with overdoses of soda and other alkalizers to counteract gas and bloating when what you so dearly need is SSS Tonic to help you digest food for body strength and repair. Don't wait! Join the host of happy people SSS Tonic has helped. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle of SSS Tonic from your drug store today. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

Dalton Police Chief 'Sticking to His Post'

Constitution State News Service.

DALTON, Aug. 29—Members of the Dalton Police and Fire Commission are busy these days searching for some kindly Georgia civic official who will give them advice on How to Suspend a Police Chief, in 12 Easy Lessons.

Late Thursday their efforts to suspend W. H. Souther, the Dalton Chief of Police, for 10 days and grant him a hearing on five charges brought a terse but telling reply from the law enforcement officer.

"I'm sticking to this post until the courts tell me to move," he said.

"Furthermore," he added, "I'd prefer that no one interfere with me until that time."

Chief Souther's irritation with those who are "interfering with him" stems from the fact that he and the Commission members spent a two-hour session in the City Hall discussing the five charges drawn up against him.

The five charges are insubordination, unauthorized use of the city's police car, leaving post of duty without proper authority, lack of proper discipline over officers and men, and failure to attend police court and compare proper records with the judge.

W. L. Manton, Chairman of the three-man Commission, replied the charges had been brought up only after numerous complaints had been received and the Commission had noticed a "lack of getting something done."

During the gruelling two-hour session, the Commissioners and Chief of Police discussed a variety of subjects as sign painters, the American Legion's Junior Baseball team, election day, liquor and vacations.

of the new car, and he told the Commission he was unable to secure the services of a sign painter.

The Commission charged him with using the police car on unofficial business, and he admitted using it for directing the junior baseball team on a trip to Chattanooga and to Cartersville.

He denied using the car at Varnell on election day.

Agreement never was reached as to whether Souther had used up his vacation leave, and the officer replied to charges of laxity in liquor raids by stating, "If I know certain places are bootlegging, I'll make a raid, but I won't raid merely on rumors in the wind."

However, in spite of the fact that Commissioner Manton informed the public "this will be a good time to find out whether or not the Commission has authority over the police department," indications are the Commission will encounter difficulty suspending him.

Whitfield County officials predict it will take a court order to remove him from his post, and until the court order comes, W. H. Souther will be Chief of Police in Dalton.

Another barrier towards any suspension of the police officer arose here late Thursday when Stafford Brook, Representative in the State Legislature who wrote and introduced the Civil Service Commission Bill, said the Commission could not suspend Chief Souther nor could it remove, demote or discharge a police or fire chief without a conviction following an open hearing.

"I have advised Chief Souther that the Commission's action to suspend him is without authority," Brook stated. "The bill does not give the Commission authority to suspend anyone. This authority for suspension of any man in either department is given only to the respective chiefs, who in turn are to bring the charges before the Commission."

ANIMAL CRACKERS

Cotton Board To Request OPA Review Prices

LAGRANGE, Aug. 29—(AP)—The Executive Board of the American Cotton Manufacturers' Association decided yesterday to ask the OPA to reconsider a previous decision and set up a system of price control for textiles which will reflect full cotton cost and reconversion costs.

Walter S. Montgomery, of Spartanburg, S. C., chairman, announced the board's decision.

"In the matter of cotton waste, which hasn't had a price increase since March, 1942, we urge immediate decontrol, which will not affect the price to the consumer of the products in which waste is used," Montgomery said.

"The board expressed the intention to urge OPA to decontrol waste in spite of their rejection of our appeal which was made previously."

Montgomery termed the situation "critical" and said the manufacturers intended to go to other agencies, and, if necessary, the Decontrol Board, if the OPA failed to provide relief.

The board also decided to ask the State Department "to co-operate in a common-sence plan of regulation of the rehabilitation of the textile industry in Japan so as to prevent the return of the cut-throat competition which so seriously affected our domestic industry before the war," Montgomery said.

Attending the meeting besides Montgomery and Callaway were W. P. Jacobs, of Charlotte, N. C., President of the Association; Harvey Moore, of Charlotte, Second Vice President; Charles C. Hertwig, of the Bibb Manufacturing Company, Macon; Craig Smith, of the Avondale Mills, Sylacauga, Ala., and Charles A. Cannon, of the Cannon Mills, Kanapolis, N. C.

Methodists Gain 1,095 Members Over 1945 Total

By THOMAS M. ELLIOTT

Methodist churches in Atlanta's East and West Districts have received 2,362 new members on profession of faith this conference year, an increase of 1,095 over 1945, it has been announced by Dr. J. W. Veatch and Dr. Wallace Rogers, district superintendents of the East and West Districts, respectively.

New members transferring from other churches were reported as 3,501. Sunday school enrollment in the two districts' 101 schools reached 28,585, a gain of 4,530. In the crusade for the Christ war relief fund of $25,000,000, the quota set for the Atlanta districts was $136,840, on which payments to date have been $139,198, with an additional $8,000 expected.

Detailed figures for the Atlanta East District are as follows: New members on profession of faith, 1,260; by transfer, 1,800; Sunday school enrollment, 15,549, for a gain of 2,616; Crusade quota, $72,490; paid to date, $73,100.

For the Atlanta West District: New members on profession of faith, 1,102; by transfer, 1,701; Sunday School enrollment, 13,036, for a gain of 1,914; Crusade quota, $64,350; pair to date, $66,098.

No Justification or Hope of Survival

The State's announced plan to publish a semi-monthly newspaper to provide public information about government developments is the most flagrant waste of public monies yet proposed by the current administration.

Moreover, even had the State definite need for such a journal—which most emphatically it has not—the circumstances under which it is being launched are such as to invite suspicion and assure that it cannot possibly hope to continue after the first of the year, when the next administration takes office.

The hiring of John White and Paul Stephenson, at salaries of $433.33 and $320 a month, respectively, to operate the proposed sheet is enough to prejudice not only Gov.-nominate Talmadge, but also a great many others against it, these two having operated as a private venture a publication, "The Georgia State Reporter." The latter newspaper, to use the term loosely, was in no wise "non-partisan, non-political and non-commercial," as the prospectus of the new organ assures that it will be. It has been a notorious "puff" sheet, which somehow usually had a glamorous story about the buyer of the largest ads.

In addition to the salaries of Messrs. White and Stevenson, printing costs and office expenses would undoubtedly run the cost of such a paper into the neighborhood of $20,000 or $30,000 a year—if it had any hope of lasting a year.

Georgia is in no position to waste that much money.

The daily newspapers have chronicled every event of any importance at the State Capitol and Governor's Mansion during the past four years. Indeed, there are those who are of the considered opinion that we have overdone it.

Moreover, the weekly press has been most co-operative in printing the reams of publicity concerning this or that phase of the State government's operation. This information, dispatched regularly through the offices of the Georgia Press Association, has reached many, many times more readers than could ever the 10,000 copies of the new semi-monthly publication which is now proposed.

In short, we feel that it will be a great mistake if Gov. Arnall allows tax money to be spent on such a wholly unnecessary project at this time.

He has compiled a splendid record of efficient, economical administration of public affairs. It would be a shame to dissipate such a record by approving such an indefensible boondoggle as this at this stage of his tenure.

Lanham, Newton Have Answer to Communism

If Representative-nominate Henderson Lanham evidences as much common sense in all his public utterances as in his latest, he is in for a long and brilliant career in Washington.

"We must make democracy work in America if we mean to keep it in the world," the Seventh District's new Representative-to-be told the Cartersville Lions Club this week. "The only chance that Communism or any other ism has to take over America will be the failure of democracy to work for the benefit of all the people. Their main bet is our pattern of boom and bust, and they hope to take advantage of the next bust, if one should come. It is up to us to prevent such a bust and thus repel Communism by taking away its excuse for being."

The Constitution, which has been saying the same thing over a period of many years, welcomes so able a spokesman to our side in the national forum.

We welcome, too, the substantiation of so influential a leader as Dr. Louie D. Newton, who, upon his return from a Russian visit, has declared: "If Americans work as hard at democracy as the Soviets at Communism, this country has nothing to fear."

See How They Grow!

After World War I, we, with other nations, formed the bombardment groups in our Army Air Forces. The bombers were fragile, small craft compared with the giants of today.

The bombs they carried could have been lifted and thrown over the side as, indeed, some of them were in World War I.

Before World War II, we formed "heavy bombardment groups." Some of the bombs they dropped weighed 10,000 pounds.

Now we have formed the "Fifty-eighth Very Heavy Bombardment Wing." It will handle the atomic bomb. The 58th is working now with the obsolete B-29, the wonder of the latter stages of the Pacific warfare just concluded. It had four engines.

It awaits delivery of the B-36. It has six engines, twice the range of the B-29.

On the drawing boards are bombers which, by 1950, will make the B-36 obsolete.

THE PULSE OF THE PUBLIC

The Constitution welcomes letters from its readers. They must be signed, should not exceed 200 words.

Swift's Jurists

Editor Constitution: Listening to the recent county-unit court hearing, some may have been reminded of Jonathan Swift's comment on judges and courts.

"Now, your Honour is to know," Swift wrote, "that these judges are persons appointed to decide all controversies of property, as well as for trial of criminals and picked out from the most dexterous lawyers, who have grown old or lazy, and having been biased all their lives against truth and equity, are under a fatal necessity of favouring fraud, perjury, and oppression, that I have known several of them refuse a large bribe from the side where justice lay, rather than injure the faculty, by doing anything unbecoming their nature or their office.

"It is a maxim among these lawyers, that whatever hath been done before may legally be done again: and therefore they take special care to record all the decisions formerly made against common justice and the general reason of mankind. These, under the name of precedents, they produce as authorities, to justify the most iniquitous opinions; and the judges never fail of directing accordingly."

Of course no one would suggest that this passage applies to the enlightened judges and lawyers in Georgia. Swift was describing a country where the tired, old prejudiced judges and lawyers were the enemies of progress and reason, because they were slaves to ignorance and corruption.

Microbes

Editor Constitution: Is there absolutely no hope anywhere? It seems to me democracy is doomed. And how can we look over our country and feel like we have anything admirable to point to? The strikes, the young vandals, the lynchings, the duplicity and cheating against the veterans, the grafting and corruption among high government officials. Really I am very miserable. It's hard for me to be cheerful at all.

MRS. ELLEN HAWKINS.

Barbarians

Editor Constitution: Secretary of State Byrnes, at the Peace Conference in Paris, finds himself in coalescence with every Roman Emperor who employed barbarian mercenaries, but his position is even more precarious due to a large barbaric state which no Emperor had to appease.

Geographically Russia is a vast plain with broad rivers often too shallow for navigation and is ideal territory for nomads. Even with his iron restrictions, Stalin knew that a restless people could not be held content; and after an influx of migrations into other states the Bolshevik regime would lose face. Once these barbaric hordes are exposed to art and culture their tendency is to become resentful of their past customs and often exfoliate in their new surroundings. (Ever take a gold digger to dinner?) Hence the long Communistic training of Tito and other menials to prepare the neighboring states for this infringing.

The first commercial treaty of the Asiatic Kingdom of Moskva was signed by Richard Chancellor, of England, in 1553, fully two centuries before our own Declaration of Independence. During this time these people with large land area and undeveloped natural resources have constantly maintained semi-outside associations and their major contributions to the development of mankind have been the breeding of their scavenging troops and to become the Grand Dukes of Revolutionists.

We, the American people, will be wise in standing behind Secretary of State Byrnes while he tells Molotov his control of neighboring states is persona non grata.

EUGENE D. MITCHELL,
Dahlonega.

Queries

Editor Constitution: Your paper reports Senator George telling the young people at Milledgeville that they "should not seek security, but only the opportunity for security." Is the senator arguing against the meager social security laws which a progressively humane civilization in America has enacted? Or does he mean that he is going back to Washington to introduce a bill repealing all inheritance laws so there will be "equality of opportunity" for all?" Or is he pleading with some of the more (un)fortunate and daring youngsters to request economic disinheritance by their parents so their opportunity for individual independence and self-made success may not be handicapped by gratuitous security? Or is he just paying tribute to the petrified tree of Nineteenth Century economic individualism which, shorn of its branches in the more complex world of the middle Twentieth Century, affords too little shade for those who have borne the heat and burden of the day?

WITHERSPOON DODGE.

Unit Vote To Stay

Editor Constitution: I want to write a few words in regard to the unit vote system. That is all you have heard since the election. The right vote system has been here a long time and people have gone by it and been elected by it. It is strange a certain crowd of losers can't take it.

If Carmichael had got the unit votes Talmadge got there never would have been a word said about it. Talmadge was elected by it and people are expecting him to stay elected, and people are not going to stand for it if they beat him out of it in this lawsuit. People would not have said a word if Carmichael had been elected on the unit vote. Why can't a certain crowd take it and be satisfied. Listen, all Talmadge supporters. Keep up with this, for we all must make a trip to the capital if he ain't treated fair.

Famous Last Words---

Director Van A. Bittner, of the CIO Organizing Committee, in a news handout, declares any charges CIO is a Communistic organization is "manufactured out of the whole cloth."

The seven million members compose an "American institution. Two and one-half million members were in the armed services and that is an answer."

Further developing his theme, he said:

"The overwhelming majority of our members belong to the Methodist, Baptist, Catholic, Lutheran, Jewish and other faiths . . . yet none of our enemies would say the CIO is Methodist, Baptist, Catholic, Lutheran or Jewish."

"In the penitentiaries of the United States are several men who were high officials in AFL Unions . . . yet none would say the AFL is made up of criminals.

"In the Federal Prison in Atlanta are more former bankers and businessmen than former representatives of all the labor organizations of the United States . . . yet no real American would charge business and banking are made up of criminals . . . "

"We do not deny that there may be some Communists in the CIO . . . we take into membership only those men and women working in industry . . . if employers have hired a few Communists . . . they naturally will become members of the CIO . . . "

Mr. Bittner's statement is almost entirely correct . . . close to the famed percentage of 99 and 44-100ths.

It would have been entirely correct had he said something like this:

"We do have some few Communist members. They were knowingly taken into the CIO and given a vote by John L. Lewis at the time he was creating the CIO. He, like others before him, and others after him, made the error of thinking, 'I can use them.' Since that time these Communists have followed the usual party practice and performed valuable services for members of their particular unions and, have, in other skillful ways, entrenched themselves.

"A fight is on right now in our one union perhaps most effectively Communistically controlled, the United Electrical Radio and Machine Workers' Union, to break up control by the Communist minority. The fight will go on. Certainly neither Phil Murray nor I give any support at all to the Communist movement, now or in the past. If we are not successful in removing them we will in time wreck the labor movement and radically change our way of government."

That would have made it entirely correct.

C. P. Nothing causes the CIO more worry and headache than the fact a very few of their unions are controlled by minority "CP" groups. Certainly CIO is "American."

The AFL, almost entirely "CP" free, has only one union controlled by a "CP" minority. That is its New York Painters' Union.

Joe Curran, who went along with the "Commies" in the CIO Maritime Unions, publicly admitted the other day he had become just a figurehead.

It is well to keep in mind that the Communists encourage critics to fling about the word "Communist" as a charge.

Nothing makes them happier than to have America regard its labor movement as Communist.

The Labor movement itself, belatedly waking up to the fact that the Communists within it want to destroy the labor movement itself, is caught in a situation which will require its best thought and most positive action.

"Line" The Communists have no fixed "line." In labor, as one studies what is going on, it appears the Communist line is to embarrass non-Communist labor leaders like Phil Murray, Van Bittner, John Lewis, William Green, Walter Reuther, and others. They will try to involve the AFL in the September Maritime strike.

The "CP" line will be to press the strikes at every opportunity and to embarrass the Truman Administration in the handling of them.

The Communists know, too, that neither CIO nor AFL want any strikes for the next six months—at least. There are many reasons, the public attitude being but one. Christmas strikes are bad. Congress meets in January.

There is a growing group in the CIO pushing Walter Reuther, head of the strife-rent Automobile Workers, to succeed Murray. They will agitate this.

Reuther will not again want auto workers to lead off the nation's "big" strikes. Murray will want steel to do that, since steel is the key. He wanted it before.

He didn't get it because the "Commies" in autos pushed the administration into a strike by needling the rank and file.

Communists now are carrying on a very shrewd campaign, using the fact that price increases have eaten up wage gains obtained in the strikes. They are needling the rank and file, paying no attention to leadership. The idea is to discredit the leadership, to make them think some "Commie" chairman is a better leader, or wage-getter.

The AFL is in much better shape. Its leadership is more firmly fixed. Its members are not being "needled" in any great numbers. It is handling the problem of Negro organization with less attention, using District 50 of the Mine Workers when the going is tough. They chuckle at CIO's predicament, but nevertheless it is one we all are in.

RALPH T. JONES

He Told Me of It A Long Time Ago

When that story appeared on Page One of The Constitution of Tuesday, last, about the colossal black market in automobiles operated at Leesville, S. C., it brought to mind a little conversation with a good neighbor of mine, some months ago.

"Aha," says I to myself, "that's what he was talking about."

If the Leesville market is the same my friend heard about, it seems to me strange it hasn't been officially uncovered in all these months.

This is the story I was told, earlier in the year:

This neighbor of mine has to travel, by automobile, over several States. His business necessitates it. He had, at that time, a car, about a '41 model, which he had driven around 75,000 miles and which had passed the point where he was anxious to get a new one. (He has procured a '46 model since.)

In traveling so much, he has come to know a lot of filling station men, cafe proprietors, hotel clerks and so on. He makes a habit of stopping pretty regularly at the same places for such services.

There is, he told me, a filling station in a small town in Carolina where he stopped regularly, when in that territory, for gasoline. He had gotten well acquainted with the proprietor.

That New Car On this particular occasion, when he drove up to this filling station, there was a brand-new car, one of the popular price makes, parked near the wash rack. He commented on it and asked his friend, the station proprietor, who owned the swanky new job.

"I do," said the proprietor.

My friend, who is quite a kidder, asked how much "boot" the man would give him in a trade for his old car. The man grinned.

"No trade," he said, "but I'll tell you how you can get a new car like it. If you'll go to the place I'll tell you, a little place up the road a ways, you can buy one like that, or one of the other makes in the same price range, for $2,000 cash."

That was nearly double the OPA ceiling on that particular car.

My friend said he didn't care to have any dealings with the black market, so that ended the conversation. And the story he told me when he returned home a few days later.

I am wondering now, however, if, had my friend been interested in paying $2,000 for a $1,200 car, that filling station man would have sent him to Leesville.

Many Rumors Of recent months, the air has been full of rumors about black market automobile sales.

Another friend, who has contacts with the used car business, was telling me something about it recently. He said he had no definite evidence, but was pretty sure his figures were approximately correct.

He said you could buy new cars on the black market for approximately $1,000 over the ceiling price. He quoted some prices on well-known makes.

He quoted, too, figures on some of the more expensive models. One he mentioned he said sold for about $5,000 on the black market. He quoted a figure, on the make car I have. More than $1,000 above what I paid a reputable dealer who has always stuck to OPA ceilings.

Handicapped One of Atlanta's oldest and best automobile dealers told me, some three months ago, he was finding it extremely difficult to procure any used cars, although the demand was tremendous. Said he hadn't even enough such cars to provide necessary transportation for his own employes.

The reason he gave was the black market.

"You see," he said, "we won't, and can't, pay more when buying a used car than ceiling price. Whether we pay cash or whether it is in trade for another car. There are, however, used car dealers who will exceed the ceiling. Black market dealers, in other words.

"It is hard to blame a fellow who wants to sell his car for refusing to let us have it when he can drive a little farther and get several hundred dollars more. But it is certainly hard on us."

Whoa!

BILLY ROSE

The Long, Long Wait

I am married to a very pretty girl. I'm not saying this just to make a hit with the missus. Long before I met her, photographers popped thousands of flashbulbs in her face. Twenty million people saw her on the cover of "Life." Three generals and one ambassador had to wait in line because the editors of "Time" thought my wife in a bathing suit would sell more magazines. Nine million customers knocked down the doors of the Aquacade to see her in person. Eleanor Holm was born pretty—why, then, does it take her an hour to make up? Why does this have to happen every time we go to the theater?

"I have a couple down front for the opening tonight, Baby. Let's be on time for a change."

"All right—what are you standing there for? You know I always have to wait for you."

I SWAN-DIVE into the tub, hack wildly at my beard, shift coins and keys from Pants A to Pants B, leap into my duds like a fireman, and in exactly 12 minutes present myself for inspection.

Eleanor has placidly planted herself before the triple mirror of her dressing table. Like a surgeon's forceps and sponges, she has neatly laid out her oils, unguents, creams, lotions, pigments, perfumes, pads and brushes. There are one or two gadgets which look like holdovers from the Inquisition.

"Darling," I say, "the sun comes up just for the privilege of seeing you. What's this drug store for? You're not Gravel Gertie or Lena the Hyena. Why do you need all this camouflage?"

"Go away," she explains.

I stomp off and find the evening paper. After I have finished the editorials, the classified ads, and as much as I can do of the cross-word puzzle, I begin to get a little impatient.

"Darling," I sing out, "it took Da Vinci four years to paint the Mona Lisa. Do you think you can shave a few seconds off his record?"

"Don't talk to me now," she commands. "I'm putting on my lips."

IT'S NOW eight-twenty. I think of the author of tonight's play, whose custom it is to stand in the lobby and stab late comers with contemptuous eyes. How can I explain to him that it's all Elizabeth Arden's fault?

What a sweet touch that cosmetic business is! Fifteen cents worth of stickum, a few drops of scent, a frou-frou package—twenty dollars, please!

It's eight-forty now. On West Forty-fifth Street there's an electric hush as the curtain goes up. The little woman is now coming out of the bedroom. She poses for an instant on the threshold. She looks wonderful—but she looked that way before she started!

"You'll knock their eyes out, Baby," I croon. "The men will drool when they see you."

"I'm not worried about the men," she smiles. "It's the women—those Shubert Alley-cats."

AND THEN I get it. I remember James Thurber's line about there being nothing so completely drained of human feeling as the look one woman gives another when they meet. All this cosmeticking is armor against the female glance which X-rays a woman and knows in a split-second the price tag on her girdle.

Our drive to the theater is like a Mack Sennett chase. We stumble to our seats over umbrellas, coats and feet—two of which belong to a drama critic, who makes a note to write his next Sunday piece about the vile manners of first night audiences. As we settle down to enjoy the play, the lights come up and the first act is over.

Be It Ever So Crowded, It's No Place Like Rome

Ex-King Victor Emmanuel of Italy, currently in exile in Egypt, has been evicted without warning from the villa in which he was residing.

While some inevitably will seize upon the incident as an argument for retention of OPA, it should be pointed out—in all fairness to the ex-King's ex-landlord—that Victor has had previous experience in getting out on short notice.

When the dethroning fever began to spread, Victor set sail in a yacht and a hurry.

One day he was ruler of all he surveyed. The next he was the little man who wasn't there.

Meanwhile, unable to find another villa in Cairo, the ex-King now has moved in with another family. Thus does one born to the purple learn the true meaning of democracy through the sharing of a bath.

Undesirable though his current abode may be, he doubtless finds consolation in the thought that, while he may be living crowded, at least he's living.

GLADSTONE WILLIAMS

Cotton May Continue As South's 'White Gold'

WASHINGTON—Cotton, the White Gold of Southern agriculture, continues as an unpredictable item in the national economy.

It was just a few years ago that many of our leaders in Congress were making direful predictions about the problems that would face the cotton industry in the postwar period now upon us.

None of them has materialized.

Most common of the fears that hung like a heavy fog over the industry was that the end of the war would find us with a huge surplus, accumulated during the years when exports were cut off from a large section of the world.

New Producers New areas opened up to cotton cultivation in California, in the Southwestern States, and in South America had also contributed to the alarmist feeling that was voiced.

The outlook did not seem to be very bright for cotton producers at that time. As late as two years ago the government was carrying great quantities of loan cotton. Foreign demand was extremely low, and export subsidies had to be maintained in order to move a part of our surplus cotton stocks abroad in competition with the lower-priced foreign product.

But that was two years ago. Today the situation is far different.

Instead of the prospective surplus, there is a marked shortage. It is causing real anxiety in the trade and is largely responsible for the sizable uplift in prices on the exchanges that has come since V-J Day.

Smallest Crop Perhaps the crux of the changed situation is found in the fact that the cotton crop in 1945 was the smallest in a quarter of a century, and, according to Department of Agriculture estimates, will not be much larger in the current year. It will run about 75 percent of the average yield for the period from 1935 to 1944.

This means that we may look to a crop of only about nine million bales for 1946. Added to the carryover of 7.6 million bales, this further means that the total estimated supply for the current season will be only about 16.6 million bales.

At the present rate domestic consumption during the coming year is expected to reach the 10-million-bale level. Government experts say that another 3.5 million bales will be exported, or just about the total of last year.

Should these estimates prove to be true, the carryover of cotton stocks will have shrunk to only 3.1 million bales by August, 1947, the beginning of the marketing season.

To appreciate the meaning of those figures, the carryover in recent years has been around 10 and 12 million bales.

Inferior Carryover A large part of the remaining stocks will be inferior grades, a condition that is predicted for much of the current crop.

All of these factors add up to a bright outlook for American cotton farmers and to the areas which are supported by cotton production. It looks as if cotton production will continue as a highly profitable operation for at least several years to come.

With domestic consumption running at the high level it now is and with world markets yet to come into the picture in a true prospective, the prospects are that it will take several successive years of bumper American crops to restore the normal balance between carryover and demand.

Until that condition is met there is every reason to believe that cotton prices will continue at their present high peak.

This should mean continued prosperous times for the cotton-producing areas of the country.

"Donald Eldred, anticipating eviction notice from his landlord, shot himself on receiving Special Delivery. The letter came from attorneys for his uncle who had died, leaving Eldred a six-story house."—News brief.

It is our sad but certain lot to have our days of sorrow
And added to the ones we've got are those we daily borrow—

The student fears he will not pass, the lover fears his honey
Will jilt him for some man of class who's loaded down with money;
The mother fears some Gypsy band will steal her darling Willie,
When not a Gypsy in the land could be so dumb and silly.

The merchant worries night and day, he fears his competition
Will take his customers away and drive him to perdition,
A doctor saves a man, perhaps, and afterward he bills him
And then the dope has a relapse and worries 'til it kills him.

Well, as we started out to say, we have our share of sorrow,
But all we have is this, today, and nothing for tomorrow.
Most all the ills that come along are less than we expected
And we find we haven't guessed so wrong since Hoover was elected.

CHANNING COPE

Enthusiasm Is Most Contagious Disease

The most contagious disease yet discovered is that lovely disease known as "enthusiasm." Nothing can prevent its spread. It leads its victims over every hurdle, around every obstacle, or through every thicket. It is the stuff which moves mountains. Nothing can withstand it. Even simulated enthusiasm is effective, for while you are putting on the act, the virus takes hold and you find yourself with the real McCoy. You vaccinate yourself, as it were. This may be what the thinkers of the world have in mind when they advise us to assume an attitude, in order to bring about a desired result.

"Act as if there is a God and you will find that He is," says the religionist. "Act as if it were impossible to fail and you will find that it is impossible to fail," advises the mental healer. "Act enthusiastically and you will become enthusiastic," declares the counsellor, engaged in pushing his clients toward success.

OUR FRIEND EVA, who waits table at the Henry Grady Hotel, is a victim of this malady, as is our buddy, Brother Richardson, who runs the historic Venable restaurant on Forsyth Street. Both of these dispensers of hospitality shower down so much enthusiasm along with their provender that they make even the "blue plate special" taste pretty fair. (Well, FAIR, anyway!) You may say in truth that Brother Richardson has even incentive to act enthusiastically because he owns the place. But this is not always the case. The owner of a place is usually the one who does most of the yammering. For example, we have heard hotel owners complain that although every room in the hotel was full, they were not turning away as many prospective guests as they used to turn away.

Proprietors are human and it must be tiresome to spend every waking moment in filling up the gullets of the nation. Don't you know on the occasions when the food is low and the help is surly, that Brother Richardson would just love to declare, "No, we ain't got no pork chops and we don't care if we never have no more pork chops.' So it must be with Eva, the waitress, and all others who place food before a critical world.

These useful people must have moments when they would love to toss the barbecue right at the customer. But they don't; certainly Eva doesn't, and Brother Richardson doesn't. They enthuse instead, and you enthuse with them.

AND WHAT of the farmer? Ah, there it applies again, only more so. The enthusiastic farmer is the successful farmer. He looks for better ways, he confidently expects them: and he finds them. Moreover, he secures additional profits by cheerful anticipation and from the fact of achievement. Observe the cattle breeder with a newborn calf, the plant breeder with a new variety; the field crop specialist with his new tractor equipment. Enthusiasm bubbles from them like water from the spring. They want the whole world to know of and to enjoy their satisfactions with them.

It is the enthusiasts of the world who have changed the world. C. E. Pleas became enthusiastic over the kudzu vine and has thus given us the means of saving our civilization here in the South. Milton Jarnigan enthused over Georgia's livestock possibilities, and the possibilities are becoming realities. Dr. H. P. Stuckey became enthused over the lowly muscadine and it is now a great commercial crop. There are countless others. Back of every success of every kind there is enthusiasm. No enthusiasm—no success, we may lay to that!

Dewey Afraid Of Donovan?

NEW YORK—I hope I never grow up to political maturity because if I should then I might accept as mere routine politics the present attempt of Gov. Tom Dewey and the Executive Committee of the Republican State Committee to ditch Maj. Gen. William J. Donovan and nominate instead Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum as the candidate for the United States Senate at the Republican State Convention in Saratoga on Sept. 3.

Gen. Donovan's defects in this case are virtues and Gen. Drum's virtues are faults.

Donovan is so strong in his own right that he doesn't have to commit himself to support Gov. Dewey in the 1948 presidential contest. He is big and strong enough politically to be his own man in the campaign without personal obligation to Dewey. This is why Dewey is against him.

GEN. DRUM is just a nice old retired Army officer who has been selected by the Dewey group as a gentle, docile pet who could be swept along in the wake of Dewey's rush and would owe his election to Dewey. The Governor is about as sure a thing for re-election as we ever find in politics and he figures if, he can elect a Senator who would owe everything to him it would be folly to let the Convention nominate Donovan, who then would stand alone and not in Dewey's shadow. Nobody ever heard of Drum in politics until a few days ago.

This opposition to Donovan is all Dewey's doing and it demonstrates a personal characteristic that Tom's friends as well as his opponents have noted. He is unwilling to risk the presence on the ticket of a big man, a man with strength, and I think he does, in believing that he could elect Drum over Herbert Lehman, because Drum is so naive and his selection would be so belittling to him that the Democrats would much prefer him to Donovan as an opponent.

It is no pleasure to comment thus on a respected friend, but Gen. Drum should have realized that his position here would be undignified almost to the point of servility and I think he must know that this little trick is no compliment or favor to him but rather the reverse. Dewey didn't select him because he thought Drum would make as good a Senator as Gen. Donovan or a good Senator, period. This was no gesture of personal friendship, except to Dewey. He picked Gen. Drum because he figured he would be a "seat in the Senate," not a Senator, and a faithful political supporter of Tom Dewey for the presidential nomination.

GEN. DRUM is under personal obligations to Dewey already through his appointment to the position of Commander of the State Guard. He has done uncommonly well since his retirement from the Regular Army for, in addition to his pension, he gets a salary from the State and another from the Empire State Building where he succeeded Al Smith by appointment of John J. Raskob.

In 1944 he accompanied Dewey on the campaign trip through the West just as military dressing. Roosevelt had the advantage of Dewey with generals and admirals throwing salutes at him all over the place and side-boys and his own household garrison of guards stationed on his place at Hyde Park and Gen. Drum was taken along with Dewey to show his three stars and for no other purpose. He wasn't even a member of the family circle in the private car at the rear end of the train and he couldn't give Dewey any advice on the way of the war because he freely said he had no access to War Department information, being retired.

Now he is asking for criticism and inviting abuse, by permitting Dewey to use him in this political ruse. In consequence, a respected, retired lieutenant general will be pitied by his friends and ridiculed by his opponents who will include some of the most bloodthirsty political cleaver-fighters of our time. It is not condescension to say that those who regard him well as a friend and admire him for his virtues wince for him in anticipation of all that the New Dealers, including the Communists, would do to him, as a bewildered member of the "big brass," should he take the stump, subject to heckling sneers from GI's.

SURE, DONOVAN was a major general and "big brass," but he is also a civilian, and a politician with campaign experience and, thanks to his great service in World War II as chief of the espionage and rescue system known as the Office of Strategic Services, he has priceless experience and knowledge the benefit of which Dewey would deny the nation. He is much more alert and aggressive. He has everything that Drum has and much more that Drum has not.

I won't go into the matter of whether Dewey is at the bottom of this. He is, and that is that, and Drum was trotted out after some friends of Dewey in the State Federation of Labor threw a smear at Donovan as an enemy of labor which didn't stick. They went back a long way to an occasion when Donovan prosecuted some unioneers who had dynamited a train, forgetting that Dewey himself had sent a lot of dirty crooks of the union racket to prison and putting themselves in the position of punishing a sworn officer of the Federal Government for fulfilling his oath of office. Anyway they aren't fit to carry Donovan's coat.

GOV. DEWEY'S record as Governor has been so fine and his exploitation of that record so skillful that, as I say, he can't fail to be re-elected unless he drops dead. But, as to the Presidential nomination in 1948, he has done himself harm rather than good because he indicates that he would place personal subservience and loyalty above ability and independence in order to maintain himself on an eminence.

'Life With Father' Has No Object Lesson

It was an ill-starred day when we ever got those passes to the Erlanger to see "Life With Father." It certainly was.

For three years we have been reminded almost weekly of the way those dratted children in that play trotted on and off the stage with disciplined decorum. For three years when our little angels, at best unpredictable, annoy or embarrass their father by acting like little ruffians, we have been reminded of the way the Day children behaved. It does no good to point out that it was only a play and they were simply acting. The Head-of-the-House is prone to remark that if a stage full of child actors could manage to act that well for three solid acts, our offspring certainly might manage a few well-chosen lines of dialogue when there's company or at meal time.

We argue, of course, but we usually get around to thinking maybe we are too lax with them, especially with the social graces. Undoubtedly their manners could be improved upon and, come to think of it, there was something charming about the Day children's "Yes, Ma-ma," "Yes, Pa-pa" routine. A firm "Do not contradict your father" at our house would send Jimmy into stitches. At the age of seven he has taken to contradicting everybody about everything. Certainly we abhor the idea of having children monopolize every conversation.

WELL, ALL THAT runs through our mind for awhile and before we know it—and certainly without letting on to the Head-of-the-House—we are making like a mid-Victorian mother, specifically Mother Day.

One of those streaks hit us Sunday afternoon. We decided to take the children calling and out to tea. Fortunately for us, our hostess was our well loved friend, gentle quiet Miss Eloise Pittman, who knows the children at their best and their worst and understands them completely.

While we put them through the clean pinafore, clean shirt, fresh hair ribbon routine we briefed them. Don't fling yourselves at "Pitt," we said, but shake her hand gracefully (we demonstrated) and kiss her on the cheek. Be careful to say "How are you?" to her and then sit quietly in a chair, speak when spoken to, but do not jump around, talk loudly, pick up things or ask for anything to eat. Mary looked glum at that because Miss Pittman is known to keep a tin of very choice cookies in her room and she nearly always has some little gift for the children.

Well, everything went well—too well—for a time. Jimmy gave his precious "Pitt" a limp handshake, settled morosely in a chair and stared fixedly at his shoes. Susy, very conscious of being clean and adorned with bows in her hair, sat on the very edge of the chair and followed the adult conversation with hungry eyes, eager to get in her two cents' worth but obedient to the point of swallowing her words when spoken to and emitting a faint, whispery "Yes, ma'am" only when prodded. Mary obeyed the letter of the law—but not its spirit. She touched nothing in the room, she interrupted no grown-up talk but she managed at some point in the visit to say "What's that?" about every single piece of furniture, picture, ash tray or ornament in the room, complicating matters by nodding at it instead of pointing or picking it up.

WE WERE outdone with Mary and proud of the others but "Pitt" was puzzled and uncomfortable. "Are they all right?" she whispered after awhile.

Mary, who frequently refers to herself as either "so sick I'm about to die" or completely "kilt," grabbed the opportunity.

"Pitt," she said, getting out of her chair and leaning against her hostess' knee, "have you got a s'prise for Susy?"

Pitt, greatly relieved, laughed and admitted that she had—sherbet, beautiful pink sherbet. For all of them.

They relaxed a bit after that and after the refreshments we were careful to hurry them through goodbyes and out the door—before they could relax too much. Fortunately for us, Russel Crouse's play neglected to show what happened to the Day children when they came home from being little ladies and gentlemen at a Sunday afternoon tea party!

GALLUP POLL

No Bouquets For Congress

By GEORGE GALLUP,
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—The Seventy-ninth Congress faced problems during its term of office as numerous and fateful as any in the history of this nation.

On the basis of a nation-wide survey of voter reaction right after Congress closed its doors, fewer than one-fourth said the Seventy-Ninth Congress had done a "good" job.

A SIZABLE segment of voters tag a rating of "fair" on the Congressional performance.

When the "good" and "fair" ratings are combined, the total adds up to 63 percent, among those with opinions, or nearly two out of three giving Congress a passing mark.

The percentage who regard the job Congress did as "poor" is something more than a third—37 percent among those with opinions.

IN MAKING the poll, field reporters for the Institute put this question to voters:

"In general, do you think the present Congress has done a good job or a poor job?"

Across the country, among those with opinions, sentiment adds up as follows:

Good job	23%
Fair job	40
Poor job	37

POPULATION GROUPS

College-trained people, and business and professional groups are more inclined than others to tab the congressional performance poorer than other groups.

Manual workers, people who voted Democratic in the 1944 Presidential election, and voters with a grade-school education or less are more inclined than other groups to call Congress' job good.

These facts are shown in the following tables:

	Good	Fair	Poor
Democrats	27%	39%	34%
Republicans	20	40	40
College	15	38	47
High school	21	42	37
Grade or no school	27	39	34
Prof. and business groups	14	40	46

Silly Business--- But It Was Fun

Riding back from Elberton the other day, passing through the little towns just at dusk, when the street lights were beginning to glow yellow on the corners along the shaded streets, I got to wondering about how the youngsters in the small towns amuse themselves now, in the Summer evenings between dark and bedtime.

I remember that in the little town where I lived the evenings were the best time, the times of greatest adventure, of exploits all the sweeter because in them was always the element of bright danger. There was always the chance that some householder, irked beyond control, MIGHT shoot that some passing pedestrian, fleeter of foot than we imagined, MIGHT catch us in a frantic chase and give us the lambasting we deserved.

The evenings always started slowly. I remember, with the clan gathering, more or less aimlessly, under the street light on the corner. The street wasn't paved in those days and after rains the mud always dried in chunks just right for hurling at bats. I don't remember that anybody ever hit a bat and I remember even then that some of us figured that the little winged squeaking things had some sort of detection device in their skulls that told them when their flight path and the trajectory of a flung clod were about to intersect. Science figured it out years later, but we knew it even then.

Reptile Trick That sport always began to pall just about the time the picture show was over and citizens began to pace homeward through the gloom in pairs. Then it was time to bring out the snake, made of the long black Winter stockings that small boys wore in those days.

I still remember the breathless tension of those moments behind the privet hedge, with the snake in the grass across the sidewalk out of sight, the invisible black thread leading from it, the quartet waiting behind the hedge in an agony of restraint for the moment to pull. It took science to twitch the string in such a way that the snake would slither with the utmost realism from its hiding place. It required timing of greatest precision to bring it out at the exact moment so it would pass neither too far in front to cause the victims great alarm, nor so belatedly that it would cross behind them. I can see them now, coming down the street—lovers, many of them, all hugged up in a manner most repulsive to small boys, murmuring to each other all unsuspecting. And then the pulling of the string and the wild leap and the maidenly shriek of the lady, quivering upon the evening air, and the deep basso cussing of her escort, as, with the string tangled about his ankles, he stomped madly at the reptile while his lady tried to climb him as if he were a tree.

I don't know yet why somebody didn't catch us then and beat knots all over our head, for we were helpless, rolling on the ground with laughter, and a bold man could have seized and mauled the lot. But it took time for a man to recover his wits after an experience so soul-shaking, and by that time we were gone.

Tick-Tack After the snake came the tick-tack, a device for convincing a householder that some felon was attacking his house with a crowbar and an ax. The tick-tack was made of a long stout string, heavily waxed with beeswax. To one end was attached a horseshoe nail, chosen for its flat sides and sharp point. To the other was fastened an empty tin can. The nail was slipped between the weatherboarding, the string was paid out to its full length, and from the deep shadows of the rose bushes one could, by stroking this string, and tugging it and suddenly releasing it, set up, at the side of the house, a grinding and a groaning and a thumping, which to the alarmed resident sounded as if someone were ripping his weatherboarding off. Naturally, nobody would stand for this, and the householder would come boiling out in a rage, sometimes armed. The success of the maneuver lay in knowing when to tug the nail free and flee into the shadows.

We did not go unpunished, naturally. Annoyed neighbors would sometimes phone our fathers, who would come searching for us, bearing long switches, and many a pleasant evening of adventure ended in sorrow and in pain.

It was a silly business, of course, but the evenings were long and amusements few. And, so far as I know, none of the gang has come to a bad end, as was often direly predicted.

City To Ask 3 Million For Airport Expansion

Atlanta's application for a $3,000,000 Civil Aeronautics Administration grant to help finance a $6,000,000 expansion program at the Municipal Airport will be filed with CAA officials by Oct. 1 or as soon thereafter as CAA will accept it, Jack Gray, Airport Manager, said yesterday.

Informed that Associated Press dispatches from Washington told of plans by CAA to launch a seven-year one-half billion dollar national airport program about Oct. 1 and that applications will be accepted about that time, Gray said the city is now ready to file and will place its bid for the needed $3,000,000 at the earliest moment.

Gray said detailed plans already have been prepared for the Atlanta expansion program providing for parallel runways up to 7,000 feet long, a new administration building, new modern equipment for instrument and contact flying and a loading ramp in circular form equipped to handle 20 huge, modern airliners at the same time. He said they are ready for official filing and expressed the belief they will get prompt approval.

EARLY START EXPECTED

Under the CAA program, it is expected work can be begun early next year on some phases of the development, and City Council Tuesday will be asked to set up $100,000 for erection of a temporary administration building to be used while the construction work is in progress.

CAA proposes to set up rules and regulation by Oct. 1 and to be ready to accept applications by that date.

Atlanta authoried $3,000,000 for the Municipal Airport development in the Aug. 14 bond issue, and at the time it was expected that a matching $3,000,000 would be obtained from Federal agencies. Gray said the announced CAA program gives promise for early realization of improved aviation facilities for Atlanta.

SURVEY DEADLINE OCT. 1

Oct. 1 also has been set as the tentative deadline for completion of the National Airport Survey provided in the Airport Act Congress approved May 13.

When CAA begins to take applications, they will be processed at CAA regional offices in Atlanta, New York, Chicago, Fort Worth, Kansas City, Santa Monica, Seattle and Honolulu.

Gray said allocations for Georgia under the Congress-approved general bill would total slightly less than $9,000,000 for the seven-year period, but added more than $118,000,000 has been earmarked for a discretionary fund to be used by CAA in carrying out a national airport development plan in disregard of State lines. If Atlanta could not obtain the $3,000,000 needed from the State-allocated fund, Gray said, it will seek a supplement from the discretionary portion.

Delay Activation; Personnel Short

A personnel shortage has forced postponement of activation of Army Ground Forces Reserve units authorized for the Atlanta area, Col. Carl T. Sutherland, President of the Fifth Congressional District Chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association, said yesterday in issuing an appeal to those interested to contact officials immediately.

Reserve officers desiring to affiliate with the postwar national security program by accepting assignments in the reserve unit should communicate by letter with Col. Norman Winn, Commanding Officer of the Georgia Military District, 101 Cone St., Atlanta 3, Ga. Information regarding reserve activations may be secured from Lt. Col. R. A. Knight, Commanding Officer of the Atlanta Military subdistrict, 322 New Post Office Building, Atlanta.

"Early expression of assignment preferences no doubt will be advantageous to officers seeking particular types of assignment," Sutherland said.

State To Save $300,000 on Vet Training

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—Georgia will save an estimated $250,000 to $300,000 annually in veterans on-the-job training under a tentatively approved agreement with the Veterans Administration.

C. Arthur Cheatham, director of Georgia' Veterans Service Department, told reporters Thursday a final agreement will be prepared by the Georgia Veterans Service Board and be submitted within two weeks. He said the estimated savings are on the basis of full operation of an expanded training program.

Cheatham and Ted Butler, Veterans' Service Treasurer, conferred with Veterans Administration officials. They were the first State representatives to seek financial aid under a new law providing for such help. The Conference, Cheatham said, was entirely satisfactory.

Georgia plans to expand its on-the-job training program as soon as the definite agreement is reached, Cheatham said. He estimated this will be not later than October 1.

The prospective reimbursements, he explained, will be made only in connection with the expanded program and not for any expenses already incurred by the State.

Cheatham said Georgia is now spending about $300,000 annually on its program, started about two years ago, and up to the present there has been no provision for reimbursing the State.

S. C. LIQUOR STORES OPEN FOR PRIMARY

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 29. (INS)—South Carolina liquor stores will remain open Tuesday during the State primary run-off, Gov. Ransome J. Williams announced Thursday.

The Governor said that since the law requires the stores to close only for an election, he had no authority to bar liquor sales during the primary.

McLeod Favors Clarks Hill Plan

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 29—(AP) James McLeod, of Florence, S. C., candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of South Carolina, Thursday declared himself in favor of public construction of the Clarks Hill hydroelectric development on the Savannah River unless the program "must be indefinitely postponed."

In a prepared statement, McLeod said, "we should take the first method to make this a reality whether it is governmental or privately owned."

McLeod's opponent in next Tuesday's run-off primary, J. Strom Thurmond, had previously announced he was opposed to the proposed private construction and operation of the project by the Savannah Electric Power Com-

Polio Epidemic Past Peak, Public Health Men Say

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(UP)—The 1946 infantile paralysis epidemic, which claimed 10,648 victims up to Aug. 24, apparently has passed its peak, the U. S. Public Health Service reported Thursday.

Public Health officials said the week ending Aug. 24 showed a decline in the number of cases for the first time since the epidemic began late in May. The 1946 epidemic was the biggest since 1916.

There were 1,806 new cases reported last week compared with 1,815 the week ending Aug. 17 and 1,579 the previous week. There was a sharp drop in the number of cases reported in hard-hit Minnesota, where 263 new cases were reported in the week ending Aug. 24 compared to 366 in the week ending Aug. 17.

Tourists Spend 80 Million In Georgia Annually

Tourists spend approximately $80,000,000 annually in Georgia with most of it going to businesses along paved highways, Lee S. Trimble, of the State Agricultural and Industrial Development Board, has reported.

Trimble also reported on the campaign to get civic clubs to visit each other in order to acquaint club members with Georgia. Incomplete reports show that 19 visits have been made, he said.

German Price Control Officials Hear U. S. Expert

BERLIN, Aug. 29—(AP)—An American official told representatives of German price control agencies from all occupation zones Thursday that uniform charges throughout Germany were "essential to reconstruct a Germany-wide economic unit."

The speaker was F. Taylor Ostrander, of Scarsdale, N. Y., head of the American Military Government Price Control Division.

The meeting was the first in which officials from all zones have discussed their economic problems. The gathering was organized to facilitate an interchange of information on price administration.

Ostrander, formerly with the OPA and War Production Board in Washington, said the Allied Control Authority favored pre-occupation price levels uniformly throughout Germany.

"Should prices get appreciably out of line," he said, additional trade or financial restrictions would be required.

Georgia GIs Turn to WAA In Fighting Supply Problem

Georgia's fighting men who left separation centers with a light tread and a heavy sigh of relief to be done forever with anything smacking of the military, are turning back with enthusiasm to GI equipment and materials in their battle to whip the short supply problem and get themselves established in civilian business.

According to records of the Veterans' Division of the War Assets Administration, 699 Ponce de Leon Ave., these former fighting men are using the same ingenuity they used on foreign battlefields in their conversion of war surplus supplies into usable or salable civilian items.

Ambrose H. Pendergrast, young Atlanta chemist, is an outstanding example of this ingenuity and resourcefulness. He was graduated from Emory, served a stretch in the Navy, was discharged as lieutenant commander in the Chemical Engineering Research Branch.

Then he started in, completing work on an idea he had had for some time . . . extracting the protein from peanut oil, to be used as an adhesive for paper and cardboard. Besides being a unique idea, it is also one of the few commercial uses yet discovered for peanut meal . . . an idea which would be a real boon to Georgia planters. Working with him on the project was his brother, Robert, who had been a chemist at the Oak Ridge atomic plant.

EXPERIMENT SUCCESSFUL

Their chemical experiments were worked out successfully, but getting into production proved another matter. They had formed a company, known as the Pendergrast Chemical Co., had secured space for their plant . . . but they received only a "nothing available now" as they made a quest for equipment and supplies.

They then contacted the Atlanta War Assets Administration office and found that the situation wasn't as hopeless as it had looked. Here they found aluminum storage buildings for storing the peanut meal, centrifugal pumps, chain hoists, scales, warehouse trucks, pipings and valves, cooling fans, heating units, and many smaller items.

Aluminum tropical huts, once destined for the Pacific, are now as civilian as a polka-dot tie. They are scattered about the State as garage repair shops, storage warehouses, restaurants, hatcheries, food stores or service stations. The same thing goes for the Jeep. It has become a welcomed civilian . . . as a business vehicle, a pleasure car . . . and most popularly, as it goes to college with the ex-GI student.

DOCTORS, DENTISTS AIDED

Probably the professions which have received the most immediate benefits from the use of surplus property, however, are those of doctor and dentist.

Dr. I. Joseph Glazer, Atlanta dentist, is a typical example. Discharged as a Major in the Dental Corps of the U. S. Army after four years of service, he returned to resume his practice and found . . . no office, no equipment. The only available office space was an oval-shaped office, into which standard X-ray machines would not fit; it would have to be wall-type or nothing. WAA located one for him immediately . . . also found a dental lamp and a casting machine.

Construction machinery is another surplus item welcomed by GIs . . . as well as all types of farm equipment, Veterans' Division representatives say. Textiles are also high on the list.

At the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation, Kenneth Keyes, prominent young Miamian, recently released from the Navy and shortly thereafter attacked by infantile paralysis, found a surplus ambulance provided the means for spending half of his time with his family. Keyes was being treated at the Foundation Hospital; Mrs. Keyes and their children lived in a cottage on the Foundation reserve. Doctors agreed to his spending part of the time at his home there, IF an ambulance could be located. The Atlanta WAA office found one, made arrangements for it to be picked up immediately.

Army Supplies Found in Dump

ROBY, Ind., Aug. 29—(INS)—Salvage hunters Thursday pored over a dump near Roby where two carloads of Army fatigue coveralls, two-thirds of them new, and 15,000 mess kits and canteens were jettisoned.

The clothes, either new or freshly laundered, were thrown in bales from two railroad cars on the Pennsylvania siding at 122d Street Wednesday. The shining aluminum and stainless steel water bottles and mess gear reportedly were abandoned Monday.

Switchmen said the two carloads of clothing were picked up on the Indiana Harbor Belt Line tracks. Belt officials said the shipment originated in Joliet, but could not trace it past that point.

A spokesman for Fifth Army Headquarters in Chicago said:

"We are investigating right now and are more than anxious to get to the bottom of this and find out the true situation. The necessary action will be taken, if warranted."

WAA Directors Meet Here Today

Regional directors of War Assets Administration for six States will meet here today with Col. William E. Goe, newly appointed Administrator of the Southeastern Zone, to discuss closer co-ordination of WAA affairs.

H. L. Kennon is the Atlanta director who will attend the conference. Others are: McClelland Ratchford, Birmingham; J. K. Wilson, of Charlotte; William J. Warren, of Jacksonville, and H. W. McMenaway, of Nashville.

A veteran of 29 years' Army service during which he was overseas in both World Wars, Col. Goe will maintain zone administrative headquarters in the WAA Regional Office at 699 Ponce de Leon Avenue.

City Asked To Aid Cyprus Lace Folk

Mayor Hartsfield and the Atlanta City Council have been urged by Anna Georgiou Pitsillou, Secretary of the Embroiderers' Association, Lefkara, Island of Cyprus, to assist in raising funds for construction of a home for the organization, and the appeal will go to Council Tuesday.

Pointing out that the home will "be the sole refuge and protection to poor girls whose artistic needlework adorns the houses of lace lovers all over the world," the missive urges assistance, and promises Hartsfield a sample of the products, and Atlanta a place on the cornerstone.

The appeal was sent to 20 American cities with a notation that the $2,000 deficiency could be wiped out if each of the cities contributed $100.

Quoting Carlyle, the appeal ended:

Photographers Elect Walton Reeves, Atlanta

Walton Reeves, of 586 Park Dr., N. E., was named commercial vice president of the Photographers' Association of America, closing its annual convention in Chicago yesterday.

Reeves, an Atlanta commercial photographer, will serve with James E. Thompson, of Knoxville, President. Other officers elected were: J. Carroll Brown, of Worcester, Mass., portrait vice president; Williard C. Martin, Terre Haute, Ind., treasurer, and L. J. Inman, Long Beach, Cal., assistant Treasurer.

Speaks to Soldiers

Charles Currie, Atlanta insurance man, spoke to a group of officers and enlisted men at Fort McPherson yesterday afternoon, urging to keep their insurance after they were out of the Army. His subject was, "Don't Let It Go."

Lake Michigan Hides Fate of 3 on Sunken Yacht

SOUTH HAVEN, Mich., Aug. 29—(AP)—The Coast Guard labored Thursday to wrench loose a secret from Lake Michigan, whose waters hide the stories of many men.

Patrols of Guardsmen sought survivors of the lavish yacht Verano, mysteriously sunk in rough seas late Wednesday just as a lifeboat bent on rescue reached her.

The 92-foot vessel, owned by Maynard Dowell, Park Ridge, Ill., manufacturer, went down "without a sign of life aboard" three-quarters of a mile off shore north of here at 5:52 p. m.

A renewed search of the waters by plane and boat was ordered at daylight Thursday in the hope of finding the three men believed to have been aboard.

Aboard were Chester Granath, of Chicago, an employe of Dowell's Company, and an engineer and cook known as "Fred" and Ben."

Curry, who had been artist-in-residence at the University of Wisconsin since 1936, suffered a heart attack Wednesday.

Curry was the center of a storm of protests over the mural "John Brown" which he painted for the State Capitol of his native Kansas. The mural portrayed Brown in a fanatical pose, standing in a Kansas field, and Curry said he had painted Brown as he saw him. Kansas critics wanted a more dignified pose.

In 1921, he married Clara H. Derrick, who died in 1932. Two years later he married Kathleen Muriel Gould.

Mrs. T. C. Wilkie Succumbs at 88

Mrs. Sally Goldsmith Wilkie, 88, widow of T. C. Wilkie, Sr., died yesterday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. L. Berry Edwards, of 676 Barnett St., N. E. She had been ill for several weeks.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today at Spring Hill, with the Rev. Marshall Nelms and Dr. Louie D. Newton officiating. Burial will be in Stone Mountain Cemetery.

Mrs. Wilkie was born in Stone Mountain, the daughter of the late James W. and Caroline Norman Goldsmith, DeKalb County pioneers.

She moved to Atlanta in 1897 and continued her residence here until her death. She was a member of Capitol Avenue Baptist Church.

Surviving in addition to Mrs. Edwards, are three other daughters, Mrs. M. D. Mitchell, Mrs. C. A. Pounds and Mrs. Luther Whitlock, of Sheffield, Ala.; three sons, Charlie V., Tom C. and Lee Goldsmith Wilkie; two sisters, Mrs. Irene Goldsmith Greer, of Stone Mountain, and Mrs. Hugh Goldsmith, Sr.; 18 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

Post Office Closing

BLAKELY, Aug. 29—In observance of Labor Day, the Blakely Post Office will be closed and there will be no rural or city delivery service, Postmaster J. Emory Houston announced Thursday.

FUNERAL NOTICES

KINGSTON, Mrs. R. T. (Minnie Lee)—The friends of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Haygood, Quitman, Ga., are invited to attend the funeral of Mrs. R. T. Citizens Add To Reward in Richmond Case

RICHMOND, Va., Aug. 29—(UP) Residents of fashionable Hampton Gardens district Thursday night requested better police protection at an indignation meeting called following the beating and stabbing of Anne M. Fowlkes, 24-year-old socialite, by a Negro who left her for dead.

The neighbors of the young Vassar graduate also voted to increase the reward money by $2,300, making a total of $4,900 for the arrest of the Negro who Tuesday night dragged her to a dark spot, beat her and slashed her throat and abdomen with a knife. Her condition was described as "fair" at a local hospital.

A resolution was passed at the mass meeting called by Pres. Julian Trimmer, of the Hampton Gardens Civic Association, asking for "greater police protection in this area."

Auto Crash Kills Daily News' Head

FAIRFIELD, Conn., Aug. 29—(AP)—Roy C. Holliss, 56, acting President of the News Syndicate Company, Inc., publishers of the New York Daily News, was killed here early Thursday when his automobile crashed into a tree on the Shore Road here.

The car was being driven, Officer Morris Kessler, of the Fairfield Police Department, said, by Frederick H. Bedford, Jr., 55, President of the Atlas Supply Company of New York and a director of numerous corporations, including Standard Oil of New Jersey.

Bedford was taken to the Bridgeport Hospital where attaches said he was expected to live.

Kessler, conducting the investigation, said the auto, owned by Holliss, crashed into a tree on Connecticut Route 136, near Bedford's home, where the two executives were headed after having spent the evening in Fairfield's Green Farms section.

The officer said the force of the collision threw both men from the car and their bodies were found lying on the highway. He reported that Holliss apparently was killed instantly.

Crowds To Jam Resorts During Labor Holidays

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(NANA) Resort accommodation from Canada to the Southern States has been virtually sold out for the entire holiday weekend, a check revealed Thursday, with possible accommodation at some places in cottages.

The season has been so heavy in New England, New York State, New Jersey, the Southern States and at Canadian vacation spots that resorts are remaining open through September, with special concessions in rates to those taking their vacations after Labor Day.

A tremendous rush of travel in and out of New York City for the Labor Day weekend was indicated by the fact that no hotel here, among the cross-section surveyed, has space left, and nearly all have been engaged the last few days turning down requests for rooms during the holiday period.

Starting Friday, reaching a peak Monday afternoon and evening, and continuing until Tuesday morning, transportation of every type will be jammed. The railroads will press all available equipment into service, adding cars to many trains.

Farmer Held In Attack Case

Constitution State News Service.

THOMASVILLE, Aug. 29—State Patrol Headquarters here report that Rayfor West, of Mitchell County, is being held under court order in the Mitchell County Jail charged with the criminal attack of a five-year-old child.

The crime is said to be connected with another such offense.

West, a farmer in that County, denies any and all connection with the crime, but the case will come up in the Fall term of Mitchell Court.

LODGE NOTICES

First of Winter's Debs Announces Her Betrothal

Pretty Anne Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Howell, who was listed as a member of this Winter's Debutante Club, has decided upon matrimony as a career, instead of making her bow to society! It seems that at the organization meeting of the club held on Tuesday, Anne asked for permission to have a few extra days in which to make up her mind and plan her future. Today Sally has the privilege of announcing her engagement to Lyndon O. Kimberly, III, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. O. Kimberly, Jr., of Atlanta.

Lyndon, who is a petty officer in the Navy, returned Monday evening, after serving aboard the Shangri-La at Bikini, where the atom bomb tests are being made. As soon as Anne saw him alight from the train from San Francisco, she made up her mind as quick as a flash! And the wedding will take place tomorrow.

Anne, a lovely and vivacious blonde, attended Washington Seminary, where she was a popular member of the Pi Pi sorority, the Spinster Club, and President of the Girls' Circle for Tallulah. She attended Sophie Newcomb for one year and then enrolled at the University of Georgia Junior College, where she was President of the Chi Ro Sigma sorority. She is the sister of Mrs. Woodrow W. Lovell, of New Orleans, Mrs. H. F. Laramore, of Hartford, Conn., and Hugh Howell, Jr.

Lyndon, who is the brother of Jean Kimberly, attended Boys High, where he was a member of the ODD fraternity. Before serving in the Pacific, he was in the Navy V-12 program at Berea College in Kentucky.

The marriage, which will climax a romance of two years, will take place at a lovely afternoon ceremony at 4 o'clock at Glenn Memorial Chapel, with Dr. Lester Rumble officiating. Mrs. Bayne Smith will present a program of music. Anne will be given in marriage by her father, and she has chosen Mrs. Hugh Howell, Jr., to be her matron of honor. Jean Kimberly will be the bridesmaid. L. O. Kimberly, Jr., will serve his son as best man.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Howell will entertain at a small informal reception at their home for members of the two families and a few close friends.

SIXTEEN KISSES FOR WINGFIELD!

Yesterday was Wingfield Ellis' sixteenth birthday, and her parents, Frances and Bill Ellis, decided to give her the very first surprise party she's ever had in her life in celebration of the exciting event.

So, to that end, Frances phoned a group of Wingfield's devoted friends and invited them to have lunch with her at the Driving Club yesterday. On the side, she whispered that it was a birthday party and a surprise, at that, and in order to make it a complete success, she suggested that the guests meet her at the back door of the club at 1 o'clock. In the meantime, while Wingfield's contemporaries were assembling at the back door, she and Kitty Warren were arriving at the front door, for it seems that Wingfield was lured to the club under pretense of going swimming with Kitty.

Though Frances had a difficult time, answering questions over the telephone which she did in crazy fashion, in order that her daughter would get no inkling of what was taking place, the party was a howling success. And the secret kept perfectly until everyone present began singing "Happy Birthday to You."

MRS. HOPKINS ARRIVES SUNDAY

Fashion-conscious Atlanta women, especially the Junior Leaguers, are thrilled with excitement over the arrival on Sunday of Mrs. Harry L. Hopkins, widow of the noted presidential aide. For they will have the pleasure of meeting her on Tuesday and Wednesday, provided that they make advance reservations for the teas at which the Young Matrons' Circle for Tallulah will entertain in her honor on those days.

A native Californian, Mrs. Hopkins was born in Pasadena, and belonged to the Junior League in that city. Dainty and blond, and strikingly feminine, she demonstrated her flair for fashions early in life, and has never relaxed her vigilance for the modish in feminine dress. She served as the Paris editor of Harper's Bazaar until the outbreak of the war, when she returned to the States to plunge wholeheartedly into Red Cross work.

Mrs. Hopkins is herself a paragon of sartorial smartness, and is as charming to talk to as she is attractive to look at. She will be accompanied to Atlanta by her close friend, Dorothea Krauss, who served with her on Harper's Bazaar and afterward became model editor of Vogue.

GLIMPSED AT THE CHI PHI DANCE

Popular Former Atlantans Are Honored During Visit

Mr. and Mrs. Rufus Fort, former popular Atlantans who moved to Nashville, Tenn., a year ago, are being welcomed back to the city during their stay of a week at the Biltmore Hotel. Many informal parties are being given in their honor, the first being the luncheon today at which Mr. and Mrs. Sartain Lanier will entertain at the Capital City Country Club.

Mr. and Mrs. English Robinson will fete these attractive visitors at an aperitif party on Saturday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving Club, and that evening Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Fort, brother and sister of the Tennesseeans, will give a dinner party at the Driving Club in their honor.

Mr. and Mrs. Fort will return to Nashville on Sunday.

Prominent Tennesseeans Arrive To Visit Ben Smiths

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Noe, III, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Morgan, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cockrell and Miss Jane Morgan, prominent residents of Jackson, Tenn., arrived yesterday to be the guests for several days of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Smith at their home on Pace's Ferry Road.

Mrs. Thomas H. Daniel, Jr., will have the visitors as her guests for luncheon today at the Piedmont Driving Club, and this evening Mrs. Smith will entertain at an informal buffet supper honoring her visitors and in celebration of Mr. Smith's birthday anniversary.

Tomorrow afternoon Mr. and Mrs. James D. Robinson, Jr., will give a small cocktail party at their home on Tuxedo Road for these attractive visitors. Later Mr. and Mrs. William Nixon will entertain informally at a steak fry at their home on Tuxedo Road.

Miss Cole Becomes Bride Of Rev. Donald M. Mackay

MRS. DONALD MACKAY

The marriage of Miss Anna Laura Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Cole, of Salisbury, N. C., to the Rev. Donald Mason Mackay, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Edward G. Mackay, was solemnized recently in the Little Chapel of Glenn Memorial Church, with Dr. Mackay, Pastor of the church and father of the bridegroom, officiating.

Mrs. Bayne Smith, organist, played the wedding music, and Miss Joy Barrett, soprano, sang. White gladioli, tuberoses and asters filled the altar vases.

Mr. Mackay's brother, James A. Mackay, was best man, and the ushers were Stanley Cole, twin brother of the bride, and J. Leland Mackay and Edward H. Mackay, brothers of the bridegroom.

The bride, a petite blue-eyed brunette, was given in marriage by her father. Her gown, fashioned of white crepe, was designed with a softly draped skirt and a V neckline, at which she wore an antique gold broach, the gift of the bridegroom. Her smoke-colored hat was trimmed with white ostrich feathers, touched with brown, and she wore brown accessories. Her flowers were purple orchids caught to a white Bible, showered with tuberoses.

The couple left for a wedding trip to the mountains of North Georgia and North Carolina. They plan to sail early in September for Edinburgh, Scotland, where Mr. Mackay will continue his studies at the University of Edinburgh.

The bride is a graduate of the University of North Carolina. She has made her home in Atlanta for the last two years, where she has been connected with the Fulton County Department of Public Welfare.

Mrs. Mackay is a sister of Bill Cole, of Charlotte; George M. Cole, of Jacksonville; E. W. Cole, Jr., of Berkeley, Cal.; Stanley Cole, of Oakridge, Tenn.; Miss Margaret Cole, of the University of North Carolina, and Miss Virginia Cole. She is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. George R. Martin, of Salisbury.

Mr. Mackay received his B.A. degree from Emory University, where he was a member of the Kappa Alpha Fraternity. Afterwards he attended Duke University, where he received his degree of Bachelor of Divinity. While at Duke he was Director of Religious Activities. He served for two and a half years with the Navy as a chaplain, and saw service in Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines.

The bridegroom is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Mackay, of Belfast, Ireland, and of the late Rev. and Mrs. George L. Mason, of Ohio, who were well-known missionaries to China for many years. He is the brother of Edward H. Mackay, J. Leland Mackay, James A. Mackay and Miss Betty Mackay, all of Atlanta.

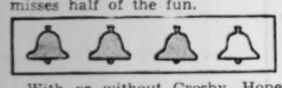
BACKSTAGE
By Paul Jones

"Monsieur Beaucaire," originally a period piece in which the late Rudolph Valentino was starred, has been reconverted into a highly amusing comedy with modern dialogue, a series of pie-throwing episodes and Bob Hope's famous schnoloza. It's now at the Fox.

Any resemblance between the original Beaucaire and the modern one is purely unintentional. With Valentino it was history. But, with Hope it is hysteria. The gags come so fast that the audience misses half of the fun.



With or without Crosby, Hope is always great. And while Der Bingle doesn't put in an appearance in person, the clever toothpaste salesman manages to inject a satirical barb at his fellow Paramount star when one of the knights of the court points a gun at him and says "bing." Hope retorts with "that's an awful thought to bring up at this time."

The royal courts of Spain and France form picturesque backgrounds for the comedy, but the eyes have little time to focus on the settings while Hope's on the screen. He keeps the action fast paced and races through the modern dialogue as if he were reading a radio script. And such comedy innovations as 18th century sword fights, powdered wigs and knee britches provide new foil for the funny-man's banter.

Joan Caulfield is completely overshadowed by the shenanigans of Hope, but she manages to look pretty nevertheless. Patrick Knowles, Marjorie Reynolds, Cecil Kellaway, Reginald Owen and Constance Collier are others who run interference for the Pepsodent punster.

Tagged for Youngsters

Little Margaret O'Brien brings her irresistible childish charm to the screen of Loew's again this week in a movie earmarked for the youngsters. It's "Three Wise Fools," a delightfully diverting piece of fairy story comedy.

The Wise Fools are Lewis Stone, Edward Arnold and Lionel Barrymore, three cantankerous old bachelors who fall in love with an Irish tot, impersonated by Miss O'Brien. As the story opens, the three are endeavoring to give away a piece of property which belongs to the child. She agrees, but with one reservation—the giant tree on the place in which live a family of pixies, must not be destroyed. The old men become irked at the fairy and try to pull a hoax on the child. She becomes embittered by them and runs away. It is not until they have realized the emptiness of their lives without her that they make amends, ending the pleasing little story on a happy note.

"Wise Fools" rates two bells.

Playing "Amber" Requires More Than Talent, Beauty

By VIRGINIA MacPHERSON

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 29—(UP)—It takes more than beauty and talent to play this Amber gal, we discovered today. You gotta be in condition. Linda Darnell's starting her second month of training.

And the schedule she's on has nothing to do with those boudoir scenes she'll have to romp through when 20th Century-Fox gets around to starting "Forever Amber" some time in October. That comes later.

Right now the beautiful Miss Darnell is up to her neck in wigs, English accents, British history, and wardrobe fittings. The studio is making its second fling at Amber from scratch.

Linda Darnell

"The big question of the day," Miss D. explained, "is whether I'll play her as a blonde or a brunette. For the past week I've made tests with my own dark hair. Then I stick on a blonde wig and make some more tests."

The problem is to find a shade of yellow that'll match up with the Darnell eyelashes and her melting brown eyes. They don't have to worry about her from the neck down. She's got all that Amber ever had—and more, besides.

"And the funny angle on the hair thing is," she explained, "that if they finally find a blonde wig that looks good they won't use it. Oh, no. Next, they'll peroxide my hair yellow."

That's another problem. Seems live hair, like the kind that's growing out of Miss Darnell's head, doesn't always come out of a dye job the way dead hair does. She's apt to have her locks dunked over and over before they get the color just right.

If she had her way she'd just as soon not take any chances and do her romping through castle bedrooms in her own brown curls. But so far nobody's asked her. And she's doing what Boss Man Darryl Zanuck tells her to. She's that happy to get the part.

"I never dreamed I would be the one," she declared. "I tried out for it the first time, but when they were picking another actress nobody said a word to me. I just figured I was out of the running."

And then one day she was taking a sculpting lesson when the studio called and told her to get over there—but quick.

"I had plaster in my hair and all over my face and I was really a mess and mad as heck at being interrupted," she added. "But I dashed over anyway. And Mr. Zanuck told me to sit down and answer three questions."

If she answered the first one right, he said, he wouldn't even bother to ask the other two.

"But the first one was tough enough," Miss D. sighed. "He asked me would I be willing to give up the part of Catana in 'Captain From Castile' if he let me do Amber? I said couldn't I do both? He said no. So I sat there and fumed."

She fumed for 45 minutes. Then she decided she'd rather have the lead in a woman's picture than a second role in the tale of a swashbuckling hero.

Zanuck gave her a day or two to get her breath and answer congratulatory telegrams. Then he ordered her into training.

"Every morning I come in for three hours of coaching," Miss Darnell said. "I have to get my British accent in a hurry. Constance Collier, the character actress, is helping me."

A Meal for Special Occasion Built Around Prime Rib Roast

By SALLY SAVER

It has been a long time, indeed, since so much top quality beef could be found in our markets. Most of the beef we bought with our ration coupons was "utility" beef, a lean and rather muscular product, because the animals were marketed directly from the range and not especially fed for a period with corn, as is necessary to produce fat-marbled, tender meat. Some beef on the market always is of the "utility" grade, and it can be identified mainly by a lack of fat around the meat and through it. This beef always is cheaper than the top grades and although it is equally nutritious it must be used for pot roasts, in stews, and pounded steaks, and ground for meat loaves and hamburgers.

There comes a time when a housewife is weary of serving economy cuts and longs to set before family or guests a broiled steak or a standing rib of beef roasted, rare, medium or done, as suits her fondest gastronomic fancy. A special occasion, such as an anniversary, may be the deciding factor, but a woman's "just because" may be reason enough for splurging on a truly fine roast of beef.

In selecting the roast look for a good covering of fat, and a marbling of fat throughout. A two or three rib cut makes a good roast. A fine roast from a large animal will have ribs almost too long for any roasting pan, so it is better to have the rib ends cut off at the market, taking them home to use for another meal when you serve them as short-ribs with vegetables. The standing rib roast should be placed on an open roasting pan, with the fat side up, the ribs forming a rack. As the meat cooks, the fat bastes the roast. The roast may be seasoned with salt and pepper at the beginning of the cooking time, or after the meat has cooked for a while; it makes little difference when the salt is applied.

SLOW COOKING IS ESSENTIAL

The secret of tender, well-flavored meat that is roasted, or cooked in dry heat, is slow cooking. The oven for the choice rib roast should be set at 300 degrees. Allow 18 to 22 minutes a pound for "rare" meat; 22 to 25 minutes a pound for "medium," and 27 to 30 minutes a pound for "well-done."

Tomatoes or other vegetable may be baked around the roast during the latter part of the cooking time. Though at no time should this roast be covered, or any water or other liquid added to the pan. Peach halves, pears or bananas may be baked around the roast and served as a garnish, if desired. Fruit gives the meat a special touch.

Following is a suggested menu for Sunday and other help with this menu's preparation:

SUNDAY DINNER
Chilled Melonball Cocktail
Standing Rib of Beef Roast with Baked Peach Garnish
Browned Potatoes
Fresh Buttered Spinach
Stuffed Green Pepper Salad
with Russian Dressing
Banana Cream Pie
Iced Tea or Coffee,
Milk for Children

STUFFED GREEN PEPPER SALAD

2 packages cream cheese
½ teaspoon salt
½ cup mayonnaise
¼ cup stuffed Spanish olives

Wash peppers, cut off tops (chop and save for use in filling) and remove seeds. Mash cheese and blend with mayonnaise. Add olives, chopped pepper and salt. Fill peppers with this mixture, and chill thoroughly. Slice thin with sharp knife and arrange on crisp salad greens. Serve with Russian dressing.

BANANA CREAM PIE

5 tablespoons flour
¼ teaspoon salt
2 cups milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
1 tablespoon butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 ripe bananas
1 baked pie shell (9-inch)

Combine sugar, flour and salt in top of double boiler. Add milk slowly, mixing thoroughly. Cook over rapidly boiling water until well thickened, stirring constantly. Stir a small amount of the hot mixture into the egg yolks, then add egg yolks to hot mixture stirring constantly and cook 1 minute longer. Remove from heat and add butter and vanilla. Cool. Cover bottom of pie shell with small amount of cooled mixture, then peel and slice bananas onto this filling; cover with remaining custard. Top with meringue or slightly sweetened whipped cream.

ELIZABETH WOODWARD SAYS:
He Has Right To Invite Girl He Wants to Party

DEAR MISS WOODWARD: "I've had a powerful crush on a boy named Don for a long while now . . . and just recently he's begun to pay a little attention to me. I asked him to go to a party not long ago and he accepted . . . and we had a wonderful time. Now the club he belongs to is having a party next week . . . and he didn't ask me . . . he asked some other girl!"

Don has a perfect right to invite any girl he wants. He probably knows he should return your invitation . . . and he'll get around to that in good time. But it doesn't mean he's going to invite you to the party you pick out. And you're silly to be hurt if his party plans include someone else. You haven't staked a claim on him yet. You can't specify how he should return your favor.

WHY DROP IT?

DEAR MISS WOODWARD: "I met a girl while I was on vacation . . . and we had some dates together. I like her very much and I think she liked me okay too. Should I write to her . . . or should I wait until next vacation and take a chance on seeing her again then?"

If there's any possibility of your seeing her between vacations . . . and if you like her well enough to want to know her better . . . write to her. Even if there's not much chance of seeing her soon . . . why let a pleasant friendship drop where you left it? If you like her . . . and she likes you . . . carry on.

GO ON YOUR DOUGH

DEAR MISS WOODWARD: "A boy I dated while I was in college has invited me to visit his home. Our homes are actually far apart, but I'm now staying with some relatives of mine who like only a hundred miles from his town. Would it be all right for me to go visit him . . . and should I pay my own way . . . or should he pay it?"

If your invitation has come from the boy's mother too, I think it would be fun to go to see him. It's not often you get within a hundred miles of his home town, so why not make the most of it? If you go, the traveling expenses there and back to your relatives' home are up to you. Be sure to take a little remembrance to his mother . . . it's her hospitality you're enjoying.

HE'S SURROUNDED

DEAR MISS WOODWARD: "There's a boy in my neighborhood I'd like to know better. I never get a chance to see him alone 'cause he's always with another boy who doesn't like girls. He's always trying to make the boys he runs around with dislike girls too. How can I go about making this boy I like, like me?"

You'll have to be as patient as Job and as friendly as a puppy. Be pleasant and gay when you see these boys together. That will register on the boy you like, even if the other is immune. In due course of time, he'll become interested in girls too. Or the boy you like will stop running around with him. Then you'll have your innings.

Tea for Mrs. Herndon

Mrs. Thomas Clyde Herndon, the former Miss Helen Hall, of Irwinton, will be feted at a tea tomorrow, given by Mrs. James F. Welch.

The bride's mother will share honors with her daughters. She was a college classmate of the hostess.

Miss Mathews To Wed

Announcement is made by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Mathews of the engagement of their daughter, Miss Margaret Marie Mathews, to Freeman DeToe Mitchell, of Knoxville, Tenn. The marriage will take place Saturday at 5 p. m. at the Park Avenue Baptist Church.

Belles To Attend Cotton Ball Fete In Chattanooga

A group of prominent Atlanta belles will attend the Fourteenth Annual Cotton Ball to be held in Chattanooga this evening at the Memorial Auditorium. The Atlantans will be maids of honor in the King and Queen's Court, the identity of the rulers of the ball to be announced this evening.

Atlanta belles attending are Misses Anne Grove, Julia Orme, Laetitia Anne Drake, Lewis Gillespie Baker, Mary Ainsworth, Matilda Martin, Frances Richardson, Nancy Woodward, Sallie Pat Connally, Dorothy Gray Minchener, Barbara Montague, Emily Millican, Dottie Ann and Janet Smith, Margaret Ann Speas, Jeannette Wilcoxon, Hayden Fleming, Marie Ward Byron, Ruth Lyons, Harriet Jordan and Helen Beaudry.

This being the sesquicentennial year for the State of Tennessee, the committee is featuring a triple golden wedding anniversary and everything will be carried out in threes, with decorations in golden yellow. The costumes of the Cotton Belles will be of golden yellow net, while the maid of honor will wear white net.

The Women's Press Club of Chattanooga, which sponsors the ball each year, will entertain at a reception this afternoon when the visiting belles will be honor guests. Mr. and Mrs. Ward Bryson will be hosts at a cocktail party before the ball, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Lee Groves and Miss Ann Groves. Miss Frances Richardson and Miss Lewis Baker, who have a number of relatives in Chattanooga, will be honor guests at informal luncheons during their stay.

Church Home Girls Plan Reunion Sunday

A reunion of the girls who lived in the first Buford Memorial Home for the Churches' Homes for Girls will be held Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Thacker on Holderness Street in West End. Mrs. Thacker was the first girl ever to be married in one of the homes, and during the past few years all "the girls" and their husbands have met annually to talk over old times.

Among those who will attend this reunion are Mr. and Mrs. Rolly Helms, Decatur; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Ford, Mr. and Mrs. Skeet Kilpatrick, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Sessions, Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Whiteman, Mr. and Mrs. Burma Blair, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. F. B. Sizer, Miss Katie Darden, of Atlanta; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Freeman, of Stone Mountain; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Kerrigan, of Lilburn; the Rev. and Mrs. Warren G. Cutts, of Marietta. The former mothers of the Buford Home, Mrs. Jennie Hill and Mrs. Sadie McGanny, and the present mother of the home, Mrs. Annie Meeks, will be guests of honor.

Other guests will be Mrs. H. L. Dodson and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Bollinger, of Calhoun; Miss Henry Helen Thacker, Mrs. Pauline Branyon and John A. Manget, who is the founder and President of the homes.

A picnic luncheon will be served.

ONE-MAN SHOW

Gilmer Petroff Exhibit Opens at Carnegie Library

Gilmer Petroff, a moustached, red-haired water colorist from Greenville, S. C., who looks every inch the artist, was in Atlanta yesterday for the opening of a one-man exhibit at the Carnegie Library.

Petroff, whose mother is a native Georgian, resided in Georgia himself for a time. He has achieved nationwide recognition as a water colorist of note, and has exhibited in almost every major watercolor show throughout the country.

The 28 paintings which will be on display at the Carnegie Library during the entire month of September run the subject gamut from "North Land" to "South Land."

Equally diversified are the evanescent moods caught in his landscapes. A lazy Sunday morning in Provincetown, a cold and desolate snow - bordered stream, a warm and sunny cotton field at cotton-pickin' time and a North Georgia mountain farm in Spring—all are colorfully and realistically depicted.

MOSTLY RURAL SCENES

"You see, I live on a farm myself," he explained, "I not only get subjects for my paintings there, but I also grow food for my family of three. You know, an artist has to have something to eat—and the painting profession isn't always too lucrative."

Petroff seems to be doing very well, however. His water color scenes have appeared on magazine covers, calendars and Christmas cards. One of the latter proved so popular that last year 75,000 cards bearing a Petroff water color were sold.

The son of a well - known physician and tuberculosis specialist, Dr. S. A. Petroff, Petroff took an early interest in painting despite his father's wish for him to become a physicist.

FATHER RELENTS

So the father relented, and young Petroff attended the Yale School of Fine Arts, the University of Wisconsin.

For a time, Petroff painted mostly in the oil medium, but during a year's tour of Mexico, he found that "water colors are easier to carry around." So water color it has been ever since.

Miss Mueller Weds Joseph C. Bennett

Miss Helen Mueller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Mueller, became the bride of Joseph C. Bennett last evening at the Glenn Memorial Chapel. Rev. Leon Smith, of St. Mark Methodist Church, officiated, and a musical program was presented by Mrs. Bayne Smith, organist.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a green suit with a brown hat and brown accessories. Her flowers were a cluster of orchids.

The bride attended the University of Georgia.

Mr. Bennett served in the Army Air Corps during the war. He attended the University of Colorado.

After a wedding trip to Savannah Beach Mr. and Mrs. Bennett will live in Atlanta.

SHE HUNG CLOTHES ON HICKORY LIMB AND LED THE COPS FOR A MERRY SWIM

NORTH BERGEN, N. J., Aug. 29—(AP)—An attractive 18-year-old girl swimming nude in the Hudson River gave two policemen in a rowboat a merry chase for an hour and a half Thursday.

Lt. Arthur J. Foley and Patrolman Frank Robbins, of the Hudson County Police, who finally coaxed her into their craft, said she laughed at them as she sported in the river, swam under the hulks of sunken scows to elude them, and then rocked the boat and swished water at them as they rowed her to shore.

The policemen said the girl, whom they identified as Susan Zakar, of 291 Wilson Ave., Fairview, told them she was practicing to swim the English Channel.

The girl, dressed in overalls and slippers borrowed by the policemen from boat repair men on shore, was turned over to her mother. No charge was lodged against her.

MENU IDEA FOR TODAY
From the kitchens of Blue Plate Foods

Peanut-Honey Fluff

4 egg whites
4 tablespoons Blue Plate Peanut Butter
3 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons honey
½ teaspoon vanilla

Beat egg whites until very stiff, gradually adding sugar. Then add honey, Blue Plate Peanut Butter, and vanilla, stirring just enough to mix the peanut butter throughout egg whites. Pile in sherbet glasses and chill. To avoid separation do not let stand too long. Serve within an hour after making. Serves 4.

Arsenic in Water Nets Life Term

HOLLY SPRINGS, Miss., Aug. 29—(AP)—The Holly Springs well-poisoning case — marked by six deaths and at least 20 violent illnesses—has been closed.

A 28-year-old Negro farm worker, J. B. Wooten, pleaded guilty to murder in connection with the case and was sentenced to life imprisonment. Sheriff Lawrence Tucker said Wooten had admitted throwing arsenic in a community well near here last June in hopes his estranged wife would become ill and allow him to visit her.

Six Negroes who drank from the well died.

4 Seamen Hurt on Ship Flown to Medical Help

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 29—(AP)—Four badly burned men, one unconscious with a cut jugular vein, were flown by the Coast Guard from the oil tanker Chester Sun, 100 miles out in the Gulf of Mexico, to Boca Chica Navy Base following a ship fire Thursday.

Navy ambulances met the plane and took the merchant seamen to the Naval Hospital at near-by Key West.

Coast Guard operations said the Chester Sun reported an explosion in an oil hold and a quick fire which later was extinguished. The ship flashed an S O S and a Coast Guard "Dumbo" plane from Miami, piloted by Ensigns Charles Lockwood and J. J. Lamping, flew quickly to her.

The plane was prepared to drop liferafts and other lifesaving equipment, but upon circling the Chester Sun the plane was called upon to serve as an aerial ambulance.

The pilots alighted alongside the ship, transferred the four men and sped towards Key West.

Details of the explosion and fire were lacking, and names of the injured were not immediately available. The Chester Sun continued on her course—believed towards New Orleans—after the injured were transferred.

U. S. Radio Station Due for Greater Berlin

BERLIN, Aug. 29—(AP)—Having failed in many months' effort to gain a share with the Russians in the control of Radio Berlin, the American Military Government announced Thursday it had set up its own radio station here to broadcast to the German people.

This medium wave station, scheduled to begin operation about Sept. 1, will have one kilowatt power against the 100 kilowatts of Radio Berlin. But its power is estimated sufficient to be heard throughout Greater Berlin and probably for a short distance into the Russian Occupation Zone.

A Weekly Sponsored Column of Things Advertised and Interesting.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 30 — Not that I want to coach you for a guest appearance on "Information Please" . . . but just because it's fun to add to one's store of knowledge . . . here are a few facts I thought you'd like to know. The first Glass Making house in America was in Jamestown, Virginia . . . way back in 1600 . . . but it wasn't until the 20th Century that a process for making clear, white crystal was discovered . . . You may not go in for copper utensils in your kitchen (thereby missing out on a lot of beauty, and perfection in cooking),—but did you know that, once upon a time, copper pots and pans were considered so valuable they were specifically mentioned in wills? But this is "go-to-market" day, so to make your meal-planning simpler, here are some "leads" on new and wonderful foods to buy . . .

There's a certain food you can buy in a jar that you can serve me ANYTIME! It's those little meat pies in sauce called CHEF BOY-AR-DEE Ravioli. Saying they're just good is rank understatement . . . they're marvelous! They're stuffed with the choicest beef and garden-fresh vegetables, and the chef-inspired sauce they come in is so unforgettable and savory, I'm hungry just writing about it. And, Mrs. Meal Planner, (THIS will send you "packing" to your Food Store to buy a jar) . . . to serve it all you have to do is open the jar and heat! CHEF BOY-AR-DEE Ravioli costs only a few pennies a portion and comes in big, full-pound jars. Try it once, and you'll serve it again and again!

No ONE BUY-LINE has ever answered so many useful purposes as UNION KITCHEN BAGS . . . those roomy, leak-resistant bags made of strong, waxed Kraft paper you buy at Grocery, Housewares Departments or 10c Stores for just 10c a packet! For instance—carry wet rubbers in a KITCHEN BAG when the sun comes out, or freshly cut garden flowers and save your dress from drippings. Use them to line garbage pails and wastebaskets, and to store food in the refrigerator. There's a rule in our house that the person using the last KITCHEN BAG replaces the packet pronto, and woe be the day when I reach for one and find none!

IT'S HAPPENED! You hear of a lot of miracles these days, but here's one to shout about! An oat cereal all ready to eat — CHEERIOS ! . . . .

I don't know how you feel . . . but "most any good range" is NOT enough for my kitchen! I demand the very best there is . . . in good looks and cool, smudge-free electric cooking. There must be exact controls for cooking heat, a choice of speeds for different types of foods . . . PLUS those marvelous new automatic timing devices for "remote-control" cooking! And, ladies, I've found all these features wrapped up in the stunning FRIGIDAIRE Electric Range that is made by General Motors! Wish I could sketch the BIG oven, waist-high broiler, Thermizer Cooker for one-unit meals, the truly distinguished looks of the flush-to-the-wall cabinet . . . with its lifetime porcelain finish, smart chrome handles and switches, and fluorescent cooking top lamp! And it's all so simple, economical and cool to operate! Insist on a FRIGIDAIRE Electric Range!

No cooking needed! . . . CHEERIOS is crisp, crunchy, wonderful-tasting, . . . and just in case you should forget, CHEERIOS is shaped like toast-crisp little Os . . . to tell you what it's made from! Yes, O stands for oats, and CHEERIOS is made from oats! And nourishing?—over 100 food-energy units in every ounce of CHEERIOS! There's GO-POWER for you! So ask your grocer for CHEERIOS! Try CHEERIOS!

It's a race, but MONARCH's the winner,—for you've never tasted such Peas! Within 2 hours after they're picked, MONARCH Finer Peas are packed and cooked at their full vitamin and flavor peak! Incredible, but true,—for the MONARCH kitchens are right next door to where the peas grow, and that fresh, sweet and "natural" flavor goes straight into the cans and then to your table. If you've had peas right out of a garden, you know what I mean, and have experienced the same disappointment when you've bought peas at the market. Taking 18 hours or 3 to 4 days between being picked and cooked is bound to rob them of that sweet flavor, AND their vitamin-content. Ask for MONARCH Finer Peas. Look for the famous MONARCH Lion Head.

Robbers Not Stopped By Tear Gas Safe

COLLEGE GROVE, Tenn., Aug. 29—(AP)—Robbers blew open the tear-gas protected safe of the Bank of College Grove early Thursday and escaped with about $4,000.

M. F. Clendenin, cashier who discovered the robbery, said the theft must have been accomplished "with gas masks" since the blast exploded a container of tear gas in the vault.

Money from a cash drawer had been taken but about $800 in money orders and valuables was untouched, Clendenin reported.

Cuba May Be Given Caribbean Air Role

WASHINGTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—Diplomatic officials said Thursday Cuba may become the headquarters of the Secretariat of the Regional Organization of Civil Aeronautics for the Caribbean.

Selection of the site for the secretariat is expected to be made by delegates from nine member nations of the Provisional International Civil Aeronautics Organization (PICAO) now meeting here to map measures to insure the safety and flow of air navigation in the Caribbean region.

Although Cuba is participating in the air conference, she is not yet a full-fledged member of PICAO. The organization's charter has not been approved by the Cuban Congress. Ratification is expected in the next session.

Wrestling's New High, Up in Supreme Court

Barring postponement, come next Wednesday the Supreme Court of the State of Georgia is going to be concerned with the hammer lock, scissors and various and sundry other things associated with the profession known to its clamorous devotees as "rassling."

That is the day arguments will start before that astute body as to whether one Fred M. Ward, alias "Young Londos," will be allowed a permit or license to promote junior heavyweight, whatever that is, and light heavyweight wrestling in Atlanta.

The thing started back in March. Mr. Ward, an intelligent and clean-cut young man, from all we can gather, appeared before the Municipal Buildings and Athletic Committee of City Council in quest of a license.

Mr. Ward, it seems, is a light heavyweight wrestler who must ply his trade in such places as Knoxville, Miami and Louisville because there is no light heavyweight wrestling in Atlanta. This makes it rather inconvenient for him, being married and the father of two fine children and travel being what it is today.

Therefore, he is desirous of promoting the sport in Atlanta at Sports Arena. Only licensed wrestling promoter in the city at present is Mr. Paul Jones, who presents heavyweight shows at the City Auditorium on Friday nights but is not concerned with junior or light heavyweights—other than, of course, a natural interest in the number of people they might attract away from his battles.

Well, as we started out to say, the Committee refused Ward's request for a license on the grounds that it is desirable to have only one wrestling promoter in town. It also brought up such other points as the fact that wrestling crowds, being notoriously vocal, might disturb the rest of folk dwelling near the Sports Arena, the difficulty of maintaining order at wrestling matches, and the fact the city snips off a five percent tax on Mr. Jones' receipts, plus rent on the Auditorium.

The Committee filed a demurrer but Ward won this fall to even the match and the thing went to trial in the Fulton Superior Court. However, Ward went one fall down as this court ruled in favor of the Committee.

An appeal was made to the Supreme Court of Georgia and so far as anyone knows, this is the first time the petition of a wrestling promoter for a license has reached an appellate court.

And that's the way it stands now. The sage and sober gentlemen of the Supreme Court have had many varied questions to settle. But this is the first involving a wrestling license.

Pity the Poor Coach The touchdown club season is on and it's rough on football coaches. Such organizations have sprung up like scrub pine all over the country in the past few years. They are excellent clubs for football fans.

They usually have their meetings on Mondays and the demand for football coaches to make personal appearances is unprecedented. The presence of a big name coach at one of the meetings is a sure-fire way to assure capacity attendance and collect all dues.

However, a club rarely considers the coach. It figures that it will take only a few hours of his time to travel there, speak, shake hands all around and return to his business. All of this is true. It's also true that a coach's life belongs to the fans.

But what the clubs don't figure is the fact that the coach is not receiving just one invitation to speak, but dozens, and to accept all would leave no time for coaching—for which he is being paid. And members of the clubs are the first to feel it when he starts losing.

College coaches usually have one of their most important meetings of the week on Monday mornings. The staff gathers to look at pictures of the last Saturday's game, check mistakes and formulate plans for the next opponent from scout reports.

If the head man or one of his assistants is out of town to address a touchdown club meeting, he may as well not be on the staff for all the immediate good he's doing the team.

Of course, after the schedule is completed, it's open season. From then until the first baseball is pitched, coaches belong to the fans to praise, cuss and second-guess to their heart's content.

Things Turf all Over Members of the Druid Hills Golf Club are among the bravest people in the world. They have a beautiful course and it is in excellent condition. But how long it will remain in that state is doubtful because the annual newspapermen's tournament is underway over the rolling fairways.

The Scribe's tourney always is one of the most interesting of the season. A qualifying score of 100 is likely to land one in the championship flight. However, new talent has been added this year, and it took a 95. Roy Fuss and Louie McClurkin, the perennial winners, had better be on their games.

Charlie Miller, Druid Hills pro, has some of the best greens in the country. It is hoped they still are that way at the conclusion of the meet. It takes brave people to subject their course to the annual newspaper battering.

Shorts Tommy Pope, ex-Boys High star and guard on Georgia's Oil Bowl team last year, was in town yesterday on furlough from the Ft. Benning part of the Army . . . He has been in seven months and figures he has another year to do . . . He renewed acquaintance with an old Purple teammate, Sid Tiller, who is just out of the Navy and hopes to get in Georgia this year . . . Admission to Tech's football practices this Fall will be by special card only . . . R. E. "Peppy" Blount, star member of the Texas football team, was elected to the Texas State Legislature . . . He plans to continue his grid career and also play basketball this Fall . . . Betting at baseball games in Miami got so bad the safety director ordered plain-clothesmen at all games to keep known gamblers away from players . . . In addition, fences were constructed to keep bookies from discussing the economic situation with them.

HO HUM, McWILLIAMS RESIGNS AGAIN

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 29—(AP) Purser Hewitt, managing editor of the Jackson (Miss.) Clarion-Ledger, tonight said Shorty McWilliams again today submitted his resignation from West Point.

Hewitt said, "If this latest action by McWilliams doesn't convince the folks up on the Hudson that Shorty prefers to go to school, play football and live his life in Mississippi, they're hard indeed to convince.

"If the resignation is turned down this time, the Army can hardly defend itself against charges of 'hoarding' football players."

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 29. (AP)—Neither Tom (Shorty) McWilliams nor quotable authorities could be reached tonight for comment on a report in Jackson, Miss., that the Army football star had submitted another resignation from the U. S. Military Academy.

Chicks Wallop Crackers 3d Straight, 12-4

Memphis Tallies 8 In Sixth

By F. M. WILLIAMS
Constitution Sports Writer

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Aug. 29—Doc Prothro's Memphis Chicks, currently the hottest thing in baseball, smashed the Crackers, 12-4, at Russwood Park here tonight, for their third straight victory over the league leaders.

Another overflow crowd of approximately 11,000 fans saw the Chicks belt 20-game winner Earl McGowan from the hill in the first inning and continue their assault on four other Cracker pitchers to take the series finale and pull within four games of the loop leaders.

Barney Cook, who toiled on the mound for the Crackers last year, allowed his former mates 11 hits and was in complete command after the third inning. Memphis got only nine hits but Atlanta made five more errors.

The Chicks bashed across eight runs in the sixth inning when four Cracker hurlers saw service on the mound. The Crackers blew sky high in the field in this frame to further aid the Memphis cause.

Friday is the birthday of two Atlanta Cracker officials and both want the same present—a victory over the Little Rock Travelers.

Manager Ki Ki Cuyler, in his third year as Atlanta pilot will be 46 years old and Jasper Donaldson, the club's efficient road secretary, will be 40.

The Crackers limp out of Memphis tonight and head for Little Rock, where they will open a series with Mgr. Willis Hudlin's Pebbles with a night game. Mgr. Ki Ki Cuyler plans to use Lefty Forrest Thompson on the mound in the first game.

Adding to the Cracker woe was the fact that Emil Lochbaum, relief hurler, was hit on the nose with a batted ball during hitting practice tonight and taken to a hospital.

After Gearhart had rolled out, Goodman and Cieslak hit singles in the first inning. Ellis popped out but Glock drove a long ball to right that Bueschen got his hands on but failed to hold as Goodman and Cieslak raced home. It was scored as an error.

The Chicks got rid of McGowan quickly in the first. After Armstrong struck out, Freeman and Bueschen drew walks. Adair doubled into the left field crowd, scoring Freeman. Deal singled to right to drive Bueschen and Adair across. Mistos came to the mound and struck out Connors on a three-and-two pitch, Deal being doubled at second.

The Crackers scored two more in the third. Goodman doubled to left and raced home on Cieslak's single through the box. Ellis forced Cieslak but Glock on the hit and run, singled to left. Ellis was forced at the plate by Benish but Hamner bounced a single off Adair's knee, and Benish raced home.

Eight Chicks came home in the sixth. Adair walked and went to second on Deal's sacrifice. Connors walked, Thompson singled to left, driving in Adair. McNair hit to short and Hamner let the ball through him with Connors and Thompson coming home.

Adkins replaced Mistos and walked Cook to load the bases. Armstrong also walked, forcing McNair across. Crain came in for Adkins. Freeman rolled to Benish who booted the ball, allowing Cook to score. Armstrong also came home when McGarity let Glock's throw to the plate get away from him. Bueschen's single scored Freeman.

GEARHART TO RACE PEBBLE SWIFTIES

LITTLE ROCK, Aug. 29—(AP)—A 75-yard sprint pitting Lloyd Gearhart, Atlanta's fleet center fielder, against Litle Rock's speediest hands will be an added attraction at the Cracker-Traveler series opener here tomorrow night.

Slated to run against the Cracker swiftie are outfielder Lew Flick and Shortstop Red Pearce. The winner will be awarded $50.

Gearhart recently beat Chattanooga's Jack Sanford and Junior Wooten in a similar dash and is slated to square off with New Orleans' Pete Layden, former University of Texas gridman, before the season closes.

TWO DODGERS ON THIRD—Under the cloud of dust at the left is Brooklyn's Peewee Reese, who slid safely back to to the base after being trapped between third and home. When he arrived, he found his teammate, Bruce Edwards (right), standing on the base. Cub players are Livingston (11), Stringer, in center, and Ostrowski in the rear. The Cubs won, 3-2.

Fouts New Grid Coach At GMA

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Capt. Leslie J. Fouts, Georgia Military Academy swimming mentor who guided the Cadet mermen to the 1946 GIAA championship in his first year, yesterday was named head football coach for the coming year by Col. William R. Brewster, school President.

Fouts, a mathematics professor, succeeds F. Lawrence Whalen, who has returned to Marist as a languages and mathematics teacher after two years as head grid coach of the College Park Cadets.

He will be assisted with the football eleven by Capt. Thomas R. Allen, former Georgia Tech end, who was a teacher at GMA in 1940. Allen was recently discharged after serving several years in the Air Force.

Fouts will begin football drills Saturday at the GMA field. The Cadets will open their season against Marist at GMA, Friday, Sept. 20. All their 1946 foes are either in the GIAA or Mid-South Conference. They will meet in order: Marist, TMI, Gordon Military Academy, Morgan, Darlington, Notre Dame Prep, Rome, McCallie, North Fulton and Riverside.

Maj. Bud Harris will retain the position of Athletic Director at GMA, Col. Brewster said.

Dahlbender Cards 65 In Capital City Meet

By BERT PRATHER

Gene Dahlbender, Jr., practically sewed up medalist honors in the Capital City Country Club's eighth annual Invitational Golf Tournament when he toured the compact par 71 Brookhaven course in 65 strokes yesterday afternoon.

This subpar round is expected to easily stand up, although most of the prominent out-of-town entries and several of the top local golfers are scheduled to tussle with old man par today, the final date in which entries may qualify. Match play gets under way Saturday morning and continues through Labor Day.

One hundred and seventeen players had qualified through Thursday. Tournament officials, who had at first planned to limit the field to 160, now predict that between 180 and 200 will be in the fold by tonight.

Morton Bright, of the host club, is the defending champion, but since he qualified with a three over 74 Wednesday, there is some doubt that he may be among the low 16 which will make up the championship flight. There are several qualifiers ahead of this score at the present time.

One of the top men slated to qualify today is Tommy Barnes, of East Lake. Tommy shot a 140 Tuesday to tie for first place with Dahlbender in the U. S. Amateur Sectional qualifying playoffs at East Lake and is figured by many to be the man to beat in the Capital City scramble. Barnes also holds the Southeastern Open and Amateur titles.

Among the prominent visiting golfers already on the scene are Sonny Ellis, Southern Intercollegiate champ, from Columbus; Bill Zimmerman, Augusta, and Gordon Bullock, Jacksonville.

Phil Hurler Faces Kidnaping Charge

CINCINNATI, Aug. 29—(AP)—Roy J. Hughes, "care Philadelphia Baseball Club, National League," was charged with kidnaping today in a warrant signed in Municipal Court here today by Mrs. Adelaide Hughes, his divorced wife.

The warrant accused Hughes of "unlawfully, wilfully, purposely, forcibly and fraudently kidnaping and detaining" Joyce Ann Hughes, 14, and Patricia Hughes, 11, children by a former marriage.

Cliff Hengge, Municipal Court clerk, said Mrs. Adelaide Hughes was awarded custody of the two children when she and Roy J. Hughes divorced two years ago.

Brewers' Franchise Bought by Braves

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 29 — (AP) — The Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association, one of big minor league baseball's most valuable franchises, passed out of independent ownership today into the Boston National League club system.

Louis R. Perini, President of the Braves, announced at a press conference that he had purchased the controlling interest owned by Oscar Salenger, a Chicago attorney, leaving the Association without an independently owned club.

Perini indicated that he had paid Salenger about $270,000 for 321 of the club's 357 shares.

Meagher's Seahawks Set For Bisons Tonight

Team Tag Contest Tops Mat Program

The match will be contested on a best two out of three basis. Al Massey, the popular Miamian, tangles with Ben Bennicasa in the semiwindup.

Ray Villmer meets Daffy Don Lee in the opener and will be followed by a 20-minute limit bout between Tom Mahoney and Tiger Joe Marsh.

BULLDOG GAMES WITH TECH, 'BAMA ARE ALREADY COMPLETE SELLOUTS

ATHENS, Aug. 29—J. E. Broadnax, business manager of athletics at the University of Georgia, today announced that the Georgia-Alabama game of Nov. 2 and the Georgia-Georgia Tech game of Nov. 30 are complete "sell-outs" and no more ticket orders can be filled

Broadnax said that approximately 47,000 persons would see each of these games.

"We are now returning all checks and money orders for tickets to these two games," Broadnax said.

Broadnax said that 2,000 aisle seats would be held in reserve to be sold just after the kickoff on the date of the two big games.

Broadnax said that 4,500 concrete seats and approximately 10,000 seats in the temporary stands are still available for the game between Georgia and the Sugar Bowl champion Oklahoma Aggies, who play here Oct. 19. He said that 24,500 tickets have been sold for this game.

ADMITS HE'S RED HOT

Georgia Rookie Warns DiMag He Wants Job

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 29—(UP)—Lanky, loose-limbed Ralph (Country) Brown figures to be the regular center fielder for the New York Yankees in 1948, or you can tear up that record book.

The 22-year-old Summerville, Ga., speedster is burning up the Class C, Florida International League, for the Tampa Smokers in his first season in organized baseball. Before this season he had a three-year Air Forces hitch.

While slugging the ball for a league-leading .373 average, Brown tops rival batsmen in hits, doubles and triples. They've lost track of his stolen bases.

The Georgian resembles Ty Cobb—another fair Crackerland ballplayer—on, the base paths. But he is most proud of his 13 hits in consecutive trips to the plate.

"I wanted to beat Pinky Higgins' major league record of 12 hits," young Ralph drawled. "I was really pressing on that 13th trip, but I knocked a beauty through there for a base hit."

Brown has winged feet, and he loves to run. A track star in high school days, "Country" clipped off the hundred in 9.9. In a recent game at Tampa, he took a shot at George Case's 13.4 mark for circling the bases.

"I only ran the bases in 13.6," allowed Brown, "but I think I could do better on a second try."

The Georgian isn't worried about major league scouts. He belongs to Augusta in the Sally League, a Yankee farm club.

"I'd like to go up to Newark or one of the other Yankee triple-A clubs next season," he admits. "But the following year Joe DiMaggio better look out—I'm gunning for that center field job in the Yankee Stadium."

Even if Brown doesn't go all the way up to the big time next year, he's a man to watch. His hitting and running ability doesn't outstretch his value as a ballhawk. A long poke to center is just a chance for him to loosen up his long legs.

Butts Shifts Back, Tackle To Guard

By JACK JACKSON

ATHENS, Aug. 29 — Coach Wally Butts shifted Porter Payne, former Atlanta Boys High fullback, and Tackle Bill Davies to guard in a further effort to bolster that spot as the Georgia Bulldogs completed their second day of football practice today.

Payne and Davies joined Bill Richardson, who was shifted from tackle to guard yesterday.

Arrival of Tackle Jack Bush cheered Line Coach J. B. Whitworth this mornnig. Bush, who starred on Duke's 1943 team while in the Naval training program, weighed about 235 as he took part in both of today's drills. He, along with Bulldog Williams, Emil Papa and John Terry, may be called on to carry the load at tackle this Fall. Papa is bothered by a bad foot, but will be ready in time for the Clemson opener.

Dummy scrimmage featured the afternoon drill following a morning signals session. Butts says he hopes to scrimmage the team Saturday. The squad is in excellent physical condition.

Cards Go 2 1-2 Games Up As Cubs Nip Dodgers, 3-2

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago swept its second straight from the pennant-contending Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday at Wrigley Field, winning, 3-2, on the strength of Phil Cavarreta's seventh inning single that scored Johnny Ostrowski with the tie-breaking run. The loss dropped the Dodgers 2½ games behind the St. Louis Cardinals who shut out the New York Giants, 4-0, on Howie Pollet's five-hit pitching at St. Louis.

The Boston Braves ended their business for this season at Crosley Field, defeating the Cincinnati Reds, 4-1, to cop the four-game series 3 to 1. Ed Wright held the Redlegs to 6 hits to mark his ninth victory.

The final battle of the season between Philadelphia and the Pittsburgh Pirates ended in a 5-2 victory for the Phillies at Forbes Field. A sparse crowd of 1,124 saw the game.

In the American League New York swept its two-game series from the Cleveland Indians, piling up a 9-1 margin on a 12-hit attack that included Joe Gordon's 11th homer of the season.

The Detroit Tigers pushed across a run in the fourteenth inning to defeat the Red Sox, 9-8. It was the second victory in two days for the Bengals over the league leaders as Detroit became the second Western club to win a series at Fenway Park.

Grudge Bout Aired On WAGA Tonight

Graham is still burned up because he dropped a decision to Tony last fall, thereby suffering the only loss in his professional career. Since then he has taken a leaf from Graziano's book. He has abandoned his flashy boxing style and turned slugger with crowd-pleasing success.

Pellone is no slouch in the slugging department either. A rough-and-ready performer, he's fast on his feet and fast with the punches. His most potent weapons are a smashing right uppercut and a zipping left hook.

Enjoy the excitement, blow-by-blow, on Gillette's Cavalcade of Sports over American Broadcasting Co. and WAGA (590 on your dial) at 9 p.m.

By JACK TROY

Charles Garland Hamby, expert Atlanta marksman, is favored to win the national rifle championship at Camp Perry, Ohio. Hamby, quiet and unpretentious but one of the great sharpshooters of international fame, departed yesterday for the big event, which runs from Sept. 3 through Sept. 8.

Associated Press Wirephoto

Maj. Edwin Harding, Jr., secretary-treasurer of the Fort McPherson Rifle and Pistol Club, is a finance officer and is prohibited by Army regulations from betting. But it's the opinion of Harding and may others that Hamby has a wonderful chance to take top honors at Camp Perry. Hamby is a member of the Fort Mac Rifle and Pistol Club. His associates are confident he'll win Atlanta's first national rifle championship.

When Hamby recently won the Southeastern rifle championship at Greensboro, N. C., he dropped only 10 points in two days of shooting. In other words, his aggregate of 3,190 was only 10 points shy of a possible 3,200 points.

Hamby's stock rose considerably when it was learned that Ranseford Triggs, of New Jersey, national champion in 1941 when Hamby ranked fourth, was 8 points shy of the Atlantan's aggregate in winning the eastern regional championship three weeks ago.

Atlanta and the Third Army Area will be represented by distinguished rifle and pistol teams at Camp Perry. Other members of the rifle team include Maj. Eli E. White, of Conley Ordnance Depot; Lt. Col. Morton Solomon, of Fort Mac, and Catharine Symmes, former women's national champion.

Members of the pistol team include Major Harding, Arthur Young, Jr., Major White and S. W. Inks, of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary. Other members of the Fort Mac Club, traveling by plane, will join Hamby at Camp Perry today.

It is anticipated that between 1,500 and 2,000 rifle and pistol shooters will gather on the huge Ohio range and expend more than a million rounds of ammunition in the War Department-sponsored title match.

There hasn't been a national rifle and pistol championship since 1941 and chief objective of all competitors is to dethrone Rifle Champion Triggs and Pistol Champion Reeves.

The highly regarded Hamby, who also represents the shooting division of the Southern Engraving Company, has won all matches this season — the Southeastern, Tennessee State and the Gainesville Rifle Club event.

By capturing the Southeastern shoot, Hamby won an all-expense trip to Camp Perry. Young earned his free trip to the championships in competition with the best pistol marksmen in the Southeastern region at Tampa, outscoring all other entries in his class—marksman, first class.

Hamby will fire in the national competition, using the same old gun bored out of an axle. It was the only barrel he could find that was heavy enough.

Hailey, Bird Win In Swim Meet

Laura Hailey and Stewart Bird won top honors yesterday in the final Summer session of the Piedmont Driving Club swimming tournament for 17-year-olds and under.

Four More Stars Enter Lakewood Speed Program

Four more Indianapolis Speedway drivers were added last night to the stellar lineup for Monday's Labor Day 100-mile National Championship auto race at Lakewood Speedway.

Latest to file official AAA Contest Board entries were: Emil Andres, Bill Holland, Tommy Hinnershitz and Walt Ader, who are riding fourth, fifth, seventh and ninth, respectively, in the AAA national championship standing. They are well known to Atlanta fans for past performances, but Monday will mark their first competition here in a 100-mile title go.

Some 30 cars are expected. Qualifying trials Sunday at 2 p. m. will eliminate 16 of them, for only 14 will be allowed to start in the 100-mile race.

Fans holding tickets to the Labor Day classic, the first ever run in the South, will be admitted free to Sunday's qualifications.

Tech Ends Season; Bows to Chicopee

Georgia Tech closed a successful baseball season here yesterday at Rose Bowl Field although dropping a 6-to-1 decision to Chicopee Mills, of Gainesville. The Jackets suffered only two losses and annexed 10 victories. The two defeats came this week.

Zack Reed, who got his start at Tech, proved too much for the Jacket batters and allowed only four bingles. Meanwhile Vaughn and Sosbee found the offerings of Henry Kalb to their liking to pace the winners.

Mill buying against textile orders met only limited hedge offerings. Most traders held to the sidelines pending further developments on the crop and the announcement of the new textile ceilings for September.

The latest weather report indicated that there was continued rain in Texas up to 7:30 this morning, with forecast for further showers. The cotton crop there has badly needed moisture.

The market advanced to new high ground for the day at the close. Mill buying was the feature which was attributed to month-end covering operations. Futures closed 30 cents to $1.15 a bale higher.

ATLANTA SPOT

AVERAGE PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 29—(AP) The average price of middling 15/16-inch cotton at 10 Southern spot markets today was 90 cents a bale higher at 36.04 cents a pound. Average for the past 30 market days was 34.98. Middling 7/8-inch average was 34.41.

STOCK SALES

NEW YORK, Aug. 29—(AP)—Timid bidding gave the stock market a selective lift today although many leaders failed to attract support.

Accounts were reinstated here and there, brokers said, on the idea recent selling had been overdone and the last due for a substantial technical revival. Dividends and earnings still were on the bullish side but only a few issues concerned were responsive. Wall Streeters remained more or less cautious because of foreign uncertainties and apprehension over strike prospects at home.

The late rally of Wednesday was extended at a fairly fast opening. While gains of fractions to a point or more were plentiful at the close, losers persisted, with assorted rails and utilities slipping. Dealings turned somewhat slow as the session proceeded and transfers of 1,060,000 shares compared with 2,100,000 the day before.

Gains of fractions to around two points were well distributed over the bond market today as demand reappeared for numerous low to medium priced rails and other corporate obligations.

Among curb gainers were Aluminum of America, Baldwin Rubber, Solar Aircraft, Northeast Airlines, American Cyanamid and Niagara Hudson Power. Turnover here was 280,000 shares versus 560,000 yesterday.

FOR SALE CABIN LOTS
ON LAKE BLACKSHEAR

I AM offering a number of the most attractive cabin lots on Lake Blackshear that have ever been offered in this section of the State. Beautiful Lake Blackshear lies about eight miles west of Cordele and is the largest lake in Middle Georgia, covering an area of upwards of 5,500 acres. A fisherman's paradise. All-year-round boating, swimming and fishing. This is a new development and the first time offered to the public.

A PAVED highway runs into about two miles of this project. The County has recently constructed a highway or public road adjacent to all lots and lake which we are offering. The road adjacent to this lake runs through forest which creates a very beautiful scenery on lake and drive. This lake was created by Crisp County Power Dam, which makes it a permanent and attractive body of water. You should see this property to appreciate it.

WRITE or wire me, if interested, Cordele, Ga., Box 292.

OFF THE RECORD — By Ed Reed

"Great Scott! I just told my wife to go to blazes and I whispered sweet nothings to that bill collector!"

IT'S DELETIN' TIME AGAIN IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Aug. 29—(AP)—The ever-watchful Boston censor, whose rulings sometimes have been the basis of jokes, Thursday finally caught up with the play "Life With Father."

Throughout 270-odd performances in Boston during five years, the play escaped unscathed—until Censor Samuel Nesson ordered deletion of the phrase "Oh, God."

Nesson described his order as "routine," explaining it was "merely enforcement of a regulation that the name of the Deity is not to be used on the stage in an irreverent manner."

The deletion was agreed to protestingly by Louis Kaliski, the company manager, who said "By Heaven" would be substituted for the banned phrase.
